U.N. Action for Algeria Voted Down

Resolution Urging Independence . Beaten Narrowly

UNITED NATIONS N. Y. (AP) — The U. N General Assembly rejected Saturday night by a slim margin a resolution recog nizing the right of the Algerian people to independence.

Despite last-minute efforts to water down the proposal, the Assembly failed to give it the required two-thirds majority.
The vote was 35 to 18 with 28 abstentions. This killed any chance for U.N. action on the four-year-old Algerian conflict at the 1958 session.,

THE VOTE came at the close of the 13th Assembly, which also took a first step to insure that outer space be used for only peaceful purposes. The only peacetti purposes. In the Soviet Union, however, served notice it would take no part in the U.N. effort.

The Assembly approved, by a vote of 59 to 9 (Soviet bloc) with 19 abstentions, a resolu-tion to set up an 18-nation, outer-space-study committee.

The resolution was sponsored by the United States and 19

L.a.C. Says: According to Need

Many of our young people of today are imbued with the philosophy of "from each according to ability and to each according to his need." It is a philosophy of labor leaders and leftwing politicians who advocate ever greater benefits for some at the expense of others. It is the Socialist-Communist doctrine which accounts for constant leveling of our society. Most of us agree that old-age pensions, medical insurance and unemployment protection should be provided for all our people. But the benefits to farmers, excessive pensions to the minority and spreading our wealth to other people all over the world call for a clear understanding of what the leveling process

Seven years ago this column carried a letter from a school teacher in Yonkers, N. Y., which might well be given wide publicity today. It is an explanation which is understandable to anyone who is realistic enough to be concerned over the spiraling costs of government handouts—and the results that are inevitable in the trends we are following. The teacher, Thomas J. Shelley, presents a most practical approach to the problem of combatting the theory of socialism. He wrote as follows:

"As a teacher in the public schools, I find that the Socialist-Communist idea of taking 'from each according to his ability', and giving 'to each according to his need is now generally accepted without question by most of our pupils. In an effort to explain the fallacy of this theory. I sometimes try this approach with my

"When one of the brighter or harder-working pupils makes a grade of 95 on a test, I suggest that I take away 20 points and give them to a student who has made only 55 points on his test. Thus each would contribute according to his ability and—since both would have a passing mark—each would receive according to his need. After I have juggled the grades of all the other pupils in this fashion, the result is usually a 'common ownership grade of between 75 and 80 — the minimum needed for passing, or for survival. Then I speculate with the pupils as to the probable result if I actually used the socialistic theory of grading papers.

"First, the highly productive pupils—and they are always in a minority in school as well as in life—would soon lose all incentive for producing. Why strive to make a high grade if part of it is taken from you by 'authority' and given to someone else? *

"Second, the less productive pupils—a majority in school or elsewhere—would be relieved of the necessity to study or to produce. This Socialist-Communist system would continue until high producers had sunk or had been driven down—to the level of the low producers. At this point, in order for anyone to survive, the 'authority' would have no alternative but to begin a system of compulsory labor and punishments against even the low producers. They, of course, would then complain bitterly, but without understanding. "Finally I return the discussion to the ideas of freedom and enterprise—the market economy—where each person has freedom of choice, and is responsible for his own decisions and welfare.

"Gratifyingly enough, most of my pupils then understood what I mean when I explain that socialism—even in democracy—will eventually result in a living death for all except the 'authorities' and a few of their favor-

It is unfortunate that this example of socialism is not taught in all our schools. It needs to be taught to adults through their unions and by their employers. Those who expect to profit more than those who produce less must understand what leveling off of rewards means to individual initiative. It is an old story to some who have read it before, but it needs to be revived often in these days of creeping socialism.—L. A. C.

Russ Pilot in Blizzard Rescue Hop

MOSCOW (UPI)—A daredevil Russian pilot has flown through a blinding Antaretic blizzard to the rescue of a stranded Belgian expedition near the South Pole, reports from the frozen continent said Saturday.

Terse messages for the So viet exploration base at Mirny on the Antarctic Coast directly across the continent from the American base at McMurdo Sound, reported the dramatic flight of Victor Perov, a veteran Polar pilot, in a light IL2

THE RUSSIANS dispatched the ski-equipped plane when they learned by radio that a group of Belgians had become trapped in a blizzard while trying to reach the Belgian international, geophysical year Antarctic headquarters at Kin Baudouin station.

In an East-West drama where white death knows no politics, Perov and crew took off from Mirny in midweek in response to the radioed SOS.

Perov headed for Australia's
Mawson base 800 miles along the coast. Weather held him there briefly, and then he took off on a 600-mile hop to Japan's outpost at Showa. From there, he made the final hop through the blizzard that made visibility almost zero to the Belgian base at King Bandouin station.

RADIO MOSCOW said the Soviet crew would "begin res-cue work immediately."

. Exact whereabouts of the stranded Belgian group was not given. The King Budouin base is located on an ice shelf hehind which rises the 14,000-foot peaks of Queen Maud land.
The only word from the Belgian headquarters was a cryp-tic message Friday that indicated the reconnaissance group had been halted by a hlizzard while trying to get back to the

The Soviet news agency Tass said the Belgian plane had crash-landed. Its pilot was the Prince de Linge, husband of Pricess Alexis of Luxembourg. Presumably the Belgian plane and the helicopter were unable to take off.

G-Man Shot. Kills Gunman in Struggle

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A wounded FBT agent and a convict wanted for shooting a po-liceman battled hand-to-hand for a gun Saturday, with the struggle ending in the convict's death.

The agent, Irving Dean, 39, of Haddonfield, N. J., was shot in the thigh by Weldon A. Walls, 22, as Dean and four other FBI men burst through the locked door to an apart ment where Walls had been hiding out.

Walls, naked, leaped from hed, grabbed a .32-caliber revolver from a dresser and fired at the on-charging Dean, sending a bullet through his thigh Dean pounced on Walls before he could pull the trigger again

THEY WRESTLED to the floor fighting for Walls' gun. Dean grabbed Walls' write to wrench away the weapon, a shot was fired and Walls lay dead with a slug in his temple A nationwide alert had be out for Walls, since he shot and critically wounded rookie Springfiled, Mass., patrolman Edmund J. Michel, 32, on Dec.

Michel, off duty at the time happened by just as Walls and a companion, identified as Ralph Elmore, were fleeing from a fur store they had burglarized. Michel was carrying an unloaded gun and tried to bluff Walls. From a distance of 10 feet, Walls shot him just below the hearl.

Michel's condition was de scribed Saturday as good. As the burglars fled they dropped an estimated $20,000 in furs. Elmore was captured the next day in New York City

Solon Writes Article for Soviet Paper

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's of-fice Saturday night released the text of an article he wrote for the Russian newspaper Izvestia during his recent trip to the Soviet Union,

In the article released to United Press International but not yet published by Izvestia, the Minnesota Democrat deacribed living conditions and standards in the United States as well as the hopes and de-sires of the American people.

"I hope the Soviet people understand the tremendous stake the American people have in the avoidance of war, Humphrey said.

He explained that three-fourths of the American families own their own homes and automobiles, that about 95 per cent of the American farms have electricity, that nearly 70 million persons in the U.S. have telephones and that the average weekly wage of the in-dustrial worker is about $75 (750 rubles).

BUT HUMPHREY praised some Russian medical scientists whom he visited.

"These men," he said, "symbolize the finest calibre of medical science anywhere in the world. We want to work shoulder to shoulder with these and other medical scientists in help-ing to heal the sick of your, our own and all nations.
"I mentioned to your leaders

this, indeed, is the only type of 'war' that the United States wishes to fight," Humphrey wrote. "I mean a humanitarian war against our common en-emics such as disease, ignorance, misery, poverty and fear.

"I mean a 'war' which will bring happiness instead of heartbreak to mankind because it will help men to live better and longer, rather than to die."

THE SENATOR also implied the Russian leaders had not given the Russian people the information they need on world

"One reason I feel informed about the position of the Soviet Union, even though I have no visited here hefore," he said, "is that I have for years read the texts and reports of statements of Soviet leaders and the Soviet government in American newspapers.

"I think that this is a prac-tice which we should all fol-

Humphrey also said that the "most earnest wish" of the American people and the "fundamental goal" of the United States was " to avoid war and to preserve the peace with justice, which we all need so much."

BUT HUMPHREY did no pretend the road ahead would be casy.

"In fact," he said, "there have been few more difficult periods in history. Nevertheless we have good grounds for hope and I know that President Eisenhower will do everything possible in his efforts to fulfill our common hopes for peace.

Earlier, at a speech in Chicago, Humphrey described his recent talk with Premier Nikita Khrushchev and said the Russian leader has an ailing kidney. But although the topic arose, Humphrey sald he re membered his ethical mandate as a former pharmicist

Humphrey said that he was interested in all chemicals and gave the premier a nonpolitical rundown on the salts' benefits, much to Khrushchev's delight.

hower Saturday for election losses.

Kelland, in a letter to Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn, said Eisenhower's pursuit of "a thing called New Republicanism" has betrayed every principle of the GOP.

"The blame for the disgraceful Republican defeat on election day should be placed squarely where it belongs—on the lap of President Dwight Eisenhower," Kelland wrote.

He said neither of Eisenhower's two presidents.

He said neither of Eisenhower's two presidential victories was a victory for the Republican Parly. He termed each as "a curious phenomenon resulting from an unreasoning ballucination that he resulting possessed qualities of leadership which would lift us out of the slough of socialism and statism into which we had been plunged by Roosevelt and Truman.

"As a matter of tragic fact," Kelland said,
"Dwight Eisenhower was a facade with no solid structure behind it. Like a stage set on a motion picture lot he presented an attractive and impressive cture; but you opened any door in the scenery and found yourself in a vacant lot."

KELLAND CHARACTERIZED Eisenhower as a military man who, after six years in office, still does not know whether he is a Republican or Democrat,

He charged that under the regime of former White House assistant "cold, austere, self-righteous" Sherman Adams, the Republican Party all but ceased to exist. He accused Eisenhower of delegating his theoretical political thinking to "his devious,

Kelland said Eisenhower had made incredibly stupid appointments, chief of which was that of Earl Warren as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

"He placed in the highest judicial position in the world a man who did not know the difference between a law book and the farmers' almanae," Kelland said.

AF Fires 2,000-mph Jet Killer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The Air Force sent up a supersonic Bomarc interceptor by remote control Saturday in an attempt to "kill" a mock enemy attacker off the Florida coast.

An Air Force officer 1,500 mlles away in Kingston, N.Y., pushed a button shortly before noon to launch the swept-wing, air-breaking Bomarc on its intercept mission.

The missile shot straight up

The missile shot straight up for about 10 seconds, then arched over and sped out over the Atlantic at three times the speed of sound—about 2,000 miles an hour—to track down its quarry. The target, it was learned, was an F80 Shooting Star jet fighter.

IT WAS THE eighth test of the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment (SAGE) system. In SAGE, radar spots the target and feeds the location and speed to a huge computer which in all SAGE tests has been the one in Kingston.

The computer figures all data for the Bomarc launching, and the only human element involved is the button-pusher's task.

By 1961, according to a recent Péntagon estimate, there will be 29 SAGE centers ready to defend the nation against enemy air attack.

Extensive facilities for Bomarc testing have been constructed on Santa Rosa Island off the northwest coast of Florida. The first Bomarc launching from this new $131 million facility is expected soon.

East German Drive Hits Catholics

BERLIN (#) — Communist East Germany indicated Saturday night it is reinforcing Soviet pressure on Berlin with a -drive against the Roman Catholic Church.

Catholic officials in West Berlin said 11 Catholics have been sentenced by Potsdam District Court on charges of apying for the West.

Earlier Saturday the same officials said four Jesuit priests are to be tried next week at Frankfurt-Oder on undisclosed charges.

The reason for the Potsdam trial was clear. Without mentioning any sentences the Potsdam Communist Party newspaper Maerkische Volksstimme said defendants received their orders from West Berlin.

It asserted their trial "emphatically underlines the usefulness" of the Soviet demand that French, British and American troops leave West Berlin and turn it into a demilitarized free city.

Reds Cashier Officer for Army Craft

MOSCOW 4P — Red Star Saturday told the story of an army officer who reaped 200,-000 rubles in a big swindle by using soldiers under his command for private work.

mand for private work.

Worse still, said the army newspaper, the officer pulled the wool over the eyes of Communist Party officials who visited the area by "pampering them with regal treatment."

Red Star, in publishing the expose, demanded intensified efforts against "loss of Comnunist Party principles" in the army.

The accused officer was identified only by the name Parkhomenko. The newspaper said he had been removed from his command and kicked out of the party. He was charged with using soldiers to do such things as build bridges, repair roads and cut timber for various organizations and stuffing the profits into his own pocket.

WASHINGTON (P) — The women who run the annual Fowder Puff Derby announced Saturday that the 1959 transcontinental air race will be from Lawrence, Mass., to Spokane, Wash.

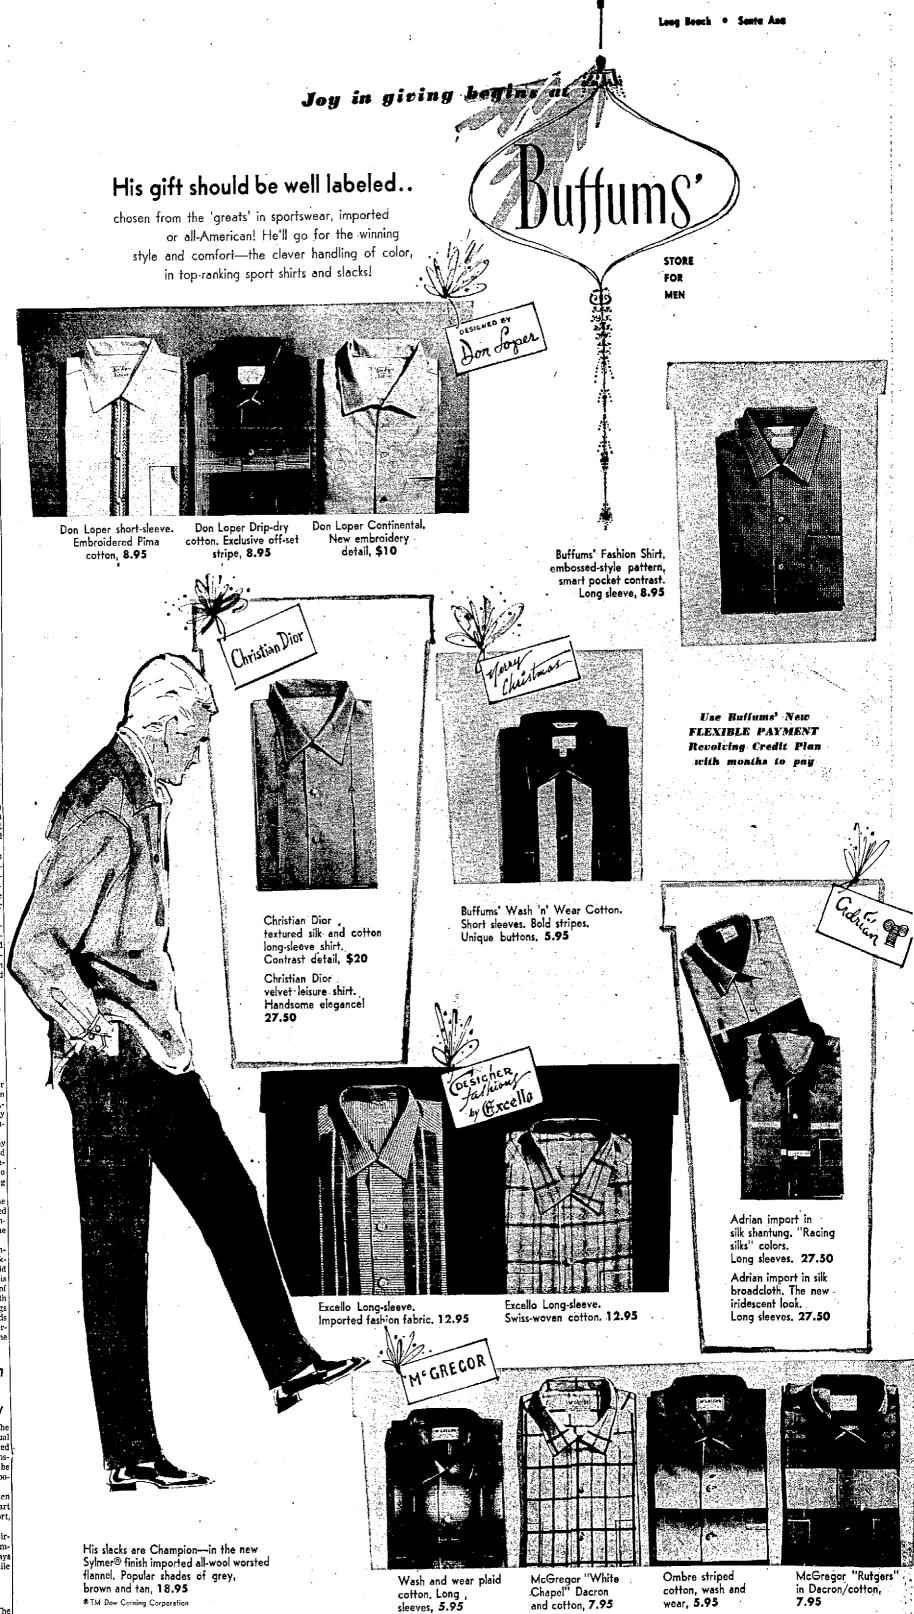

The race, limited to women and small aircraft, will start at Lawrence Municipal Airport,

The estimated 60 to 70 aircraft, with more than 130 women pilots, will have four days in which to fly the 2,470-mile course.

GRASS TESTER

Crazy Machine Has a Purpose

A "Rube Goldberg" ma-chine that runs rings around itself is helping scientists find grasses that will withstand heavy use.

Assembled by an agricultural engineer at UCLA, the machine already has revealed great differences in the durability of various types of greens.

Așsistant horticulturist Victor B. Younger explained that his department had received many queries about which kinds of grass to plant for maximum wearability.

The problem was presented to Engineer Russell L. Perry who built a one-cylinder ma-chine that flaps, pounds, rolls and strikes the grass with rotating paddles and wheels around its own pivot.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A miniature monkey rode a rocket to the fringes of space Saturday, blazing a trail for man to follow. He is missing and is presumed to have given his life

The tiny,one-pound squirrel monkey survived a meteor-like ascent to about 360 miles above the earth but disappeared in the ocean when a technical mishap prevented recovery of the lose cone of an Army Jupiter

The nose cone in which the nonkey rode splashed into the Atlantic about 1,500 miles from the launching point at Cape Ca-laveral, Fla. The previously proved method for recovering a tone before it sinks failed this

The Army announced six nours later it had given up the search for the monkey's little rpace ship.

For about 13 minutes an automatic radio transmitter which was linked to micro-SPACE JOCKEY phones, thermometers and other equipment sent back data on how the monkey was doing "valuable scientific data," scientists called it.

In general, the radioed data showed only mild changes in his physical condition as the Jupiter roared away from earth and arched out beyond the atmosphere. His heart beat stepped up slightly as the pull of gravity multiplied in the first phase of flight, but remained generally normal thereafter.

SPCA Gets Protest Calls

BOSTON (AP)-The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said Saturday it had had numerous calls protesting the Army's shooting a monkey aloft in a

Dr. Erich H. Hansen, president of the Massachusetts SPCA said: "The society recognizes the importance of space investigation but considers the use of living animals for research to be at best a necessary evil."

Russ Call for Summit Parley

PARIS (UPI)-Russia Saturday called for a new summit conference and renewed its ultimatum for a western withdrawal from Berlin. Its proposals were timed to coincide with the arrival of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other NATO ministers for a conference in Paris on the Berlin crisis.

As Dulles set to work to organize a solid western phalanx against Communist designs on West Berlin, the Soviet foreign office sent joint notes to each NATO power stressing the Soviet demands for East-West talks and acceptance of a non-aggres sion pact and a "de-nuclearized" zone across central Europe,

Report Mao to Lose Post

TAIPEI (AP)—The Nationalists' mainland underground reported Saturday that Mao Tze-tung is going to be replaced as chairman or head of Red China's government in Peiping next

The reports said nothing about Mao being replaced as head of the Chinese Communist Party, fountain of all power in Red China. Appointment of a new government chief might be no more than a maneuver to quiet mainland unrest, with Mao still grasping all the reins of power as boss of the party.

Library of Congress Has 'Nasby Papers' which so delighted President Lincoln with its humor that he frequently read excerpts to his administrative officials. The presentation was made by Frederic N. Towers of Washington. Accompanying the vol-ume was a letter written by Mary Harlan (Mrs. Robert Todd) Lincoln to Towers in 1931. She said she had come into possession of the book which formerly belonged to the martyred president.

The Nasby Papers were writ-

Plan Plane Production in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI)-Two Mexican industrialists said Saturday they planned to start building small airplanes in Mexico with co-operation of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. of the United States.

Abelardo L. Rodriguez, former president of Mexico, and Juan F. Azcarate, an acronautical expert, said they were setting up a new airplane company to he called "Lockheed-Azcaate, S. A."

They said a large factory would be constructed with Lockheed's Georgia Division furnishing plans, tools and ma-chinery, Lockheed also will pro-vide plans and technical help for the manufacture of the planes, they said.

Rodriguez said the projected plane would be "a small plane for multiple uses, designed suitably for the topographic charac-teristics of Mexico and other people, say two medical investigators.

SAN FRANCISCO (P)-A bizarre twist of human behavior is responsible for little patches of baldness in some people, say two medical investigators.

A youngster may have some missing eyelashes because of it. The scalp of a child who has an older brother or sister may start getting thin in spots without any apparent reason. A mustache may contain a bare patch from which hairs have a common haoft among the instant, the investigators say.

The name of the disorder is trichotillomania, which means hair-pulling madness. It is not a true form of insanity but is a common habit among the insane, the investigators say.

Mostly, they add, it is a compulsive form of neurosis which may be a sign of a serious personality disorder. Often the help of a psychiatrist is needed to stop it.

This unusual behavior abnormality is reported by Capt. William N. New, of the Navy Medical Corps and Dr. Walter

R. Nickel of San Diego in studying reports on several hundred-cases of baldness, including 22 at the San Diego Naval

The neurotically produced bald spots can fool and dismay a doctor who may be looking for some more conventional cause of the loss of hair, the investigators said.

THE HAIR-PULLING CHILD operates when no one is watching him. One of the things to look for is a thumb-suck-ing youngster in the family. Thomb sucking and hair pulling often go together, they said. A man with a little bare spot in his mustache should be suspected of the disorder, they re-

New and Nickel also reported some other unusual causes

One of them was a bald ring around a lock of hair on the forhead of a 7-year-old girl. The mother had used a clip to bind the hair into a little shock which caused a pulling at the ring and the reason warm time the girl moved her the roots around the edges every time the girl moved her head quickly.

Several cases of bald spots were found to have been caused by the pull of braids and curlers.

The investigators cited reports of others showing temporary bald spots being due to a chemical used in producing wavy hair by a cold method.

CHEMICALS FOR STRAIGHTENING kinky hair also can produce bald spots as long as three months after their application, the researchers said.

Not much can be done to remedy the conventional type of male haldness, the physicians reported. However, they cited one study which showed 63 per cent of 55 people with patchy bald spots were neutratic and in need of mental treatment. Another 23 per cent had experienced mental shock of some kind. The other 14 per cent showed no sign of mental abrormality.

This suggests, the physicians said, that some forms of patchy baldness may be helped by psychiatric treatment. But where a person's head is entirely bald, the best remedy is a vig, they reported.

Robin Hood in Sacramento

IS ROBIN HOOD in the saddle in the State Department of Education?

If so, the Long Beach Unified School District wishes he would go back to Sherwood Forest, where he looked a lot more romantic and a lot less like a LOCAL SCHOOL DISTRICT officials have written the state superintendent expressing in effect, just such a thought. But before discussing that, a word or two of background.

The school district has two major sources of funds one, taxes paid to the Long Beach district; two, the state. By custom these sources are supposed to contribute approximately equal amounts. However, through the years the state has been contributing a smaller and smaller percentage until now it provides only about 36 per cent. Meanwhile, the state treats the so-called "impoverished" school districts with a liberal hand. In a sense, the local district is a victim of its own wealth and its good management. Many of the "impoverished" districts are suspected of wearing a false cloak of poverty, a camouflage which is maintained by deft manipulation by county assessors of assessed valuations. This district, too, could be "impoverished" if there were a desire to misrepresent.

IT IS REALIZED THAT THE State Department of Education does not control county assessments, but it does have something to do with the distribution of funds on the basis of those assessments, and it could assume some responsibility for establishing a more equitable standard.

But now for the insult that has been heaped on top of injury and has raised the school board's ire.

UNDER PUBLIC LAW 874, the Long Beach district is entitled to financial assistance from the federal government. This entitlement is based on the fact that federal defense plants in this area have increased the school-age population and at the same time taken valuable property off the tax rolls.

Public Law 874 makes quite clear that funds are supposed to go only to those school districts which

Yet, there is now under consideration in the State Degartment of Education a proposal to take 46% per cent of the amount Long Beach receives from the federal government, subtract that from the amount the state apportions Long Beach, and divert the federal money to a state equalization program which will benefit districts that do not qualify for money under Public

SUCH A PROPOSAL is obviously contrary to the intent of the federal law. The proposal is immoral, evasive, and typical of the State Department of Education's approach to the distribution of funds. That approach favors the "poor little districts" and puts the tax burden on the backs of the taxpayers of this and other districts which carry their own weight.

THE CITIZENS of this district are tired of supporting a program that benefits goldbricks and freeloaders. They object and will continue to do so with all the legal and moral weapons at their command until they get satisfaction.

"Considering the present state of the missile art, it probably wouldn't have much left when it arrived," says Brig. Gen. Austin W. Betts, military deputy to the guided missile director of the Defense Denartment. of the Defense Department.

Presumably he meant that to get the increased range, the Russians would have to sacrifice on the weight of the missile's paylond and also give up a substantial measure of accuracy.

General Betts listed three major advantages of longer-range missiles: they could be fired from deeper inside Russia, making hunching sites more difficult for us to attack; they could carry a really large warhead at shorter ranges; they could use trajectory other than the optimum one, thus creating a more difficult job for the defense to detect and destroy the incom-

THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS is trying to solve a 93year-old literary mystery: What happened to the papers Abraham Lincoln was carrying when he was shot at Ford's Theater, and what happened to copies that were later made of them?

The library has recently acquired a letter from Lincoln's executor to the Clerk of the House of Representatives, dated June 22, 1866, stating that Secretary of War Stanton removed the papers and had the copies made. The 1866 letter says the copies were sent to the vault at the National Bank of Bloomington. Ind., where they were sealed and not to be opened until some future but unspecified date. It has been known some years that the copies of the papers

Lincoln had on his person when he was murdered were de-posited in the Bloomington bank, but the present whereabouts of both the originals and the copies is unknown.

Water Problem Left Up to Brown

SACRAMENTO (CNS)-The failure of a joint legislative committee on water problems to reach any semblance of agreement on a water rights amendment to the Constitution left little doubt future water development will be squarely up to Gov.-Elect Edmund G. Brown. Brown promised during the campaign that he would

"start the dirt flying" on actual construction of water projects.

At the meeting of the 18-member committee on Problems of Water Resources Development, about the only thing to fly were criticisms of a proposed amendment.

THE CURTOUS PICTURE OF attendance at the meeting of the joint committee confirmed the doubt that the matter would be settled at this time. Of six senators in attendance, five were Democrats and the sixth, a Republican, was a lame duck. Of the eight assemblymen in attendance, four were Democrats, one Republican and three lame ducks.

There had been charges earlier that Democrats would stall any action on settling the water rights question until after the new administration took over. Whether that was the intention at the meeting—and there definitely were many other considerations - that's what has happened.

The north-south, big city-country, mountain-valley con-troversies appeared no nearer solution—and little different— from when the Legislature adjourned in a deadlock on water in June of 1957.

THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT to the Constitutionfifth to be considered by an eight-man subcommittee of the full group—would have delegated most authority in selecting water projects to the Department of Water Resources. It would have permitted the Legislature to veto appropriations with a majority vote and initiate new water projects with a two-thirds vote. Sen. James Cohey (D-Merced) said the delegation of the water powers to the department was "an abdication of a fundamental function of the Legislature." Sen. Alan Short (D-Stockton), who favored the amendment for the most part, said the legislature's "balance of power means stalemate."

"If we wait for the Legislature to cut that Gordian knot, you'll wait forever," Short said.

SEN. RICHARD RICHARDS (D-Los Angeles), who headed the subcommittee which drew the proposed amendment said he felt that, because of the legislative deadlock over details of constructing water projects, it would be best to delegate such details to someone other than the Legislature.

The committee agreed to meet again in Sacramento

Cut States, Counties Down to Size, Says Elroy Roamer

that should be subdivided. Roamer said as he lounged on a Lincoln Park bench squinting at an empty band-You can't say that be-

The real lift to the morale of the citizens of the former Lone Star State would come from a more equitable Star State would come from a more equitable distribution of the inferior weather, which has been pretty well monopolized by that section popularly known as 'Baja Oklahoma'." Certain newspapers in northern California have hinted they favor dividing this state at

"These bay area newspapers pretend that their motive for a division of a state is to end the legislature's impasse on the issue of Southern California's demand for a bigger share of northern water. "THEY NEGLECT TO MENTION the powerful influence of the Napa wine lobby. These greedy grape grinders have been dreaming for decades of the day when they can ship their product to Los Angeles under an import label and at import prices." Northern California, Roamer continued, suffers from an inferiority complex as a result of a continuous flow of census figures showing that almost all of the "fastest growing cities in the world" lie south of Santa

"The boundless envy of San Francisco is illustrated by photographs in bay area news-papers showing the Golden Gate bridge with and without smog. These are intended to match comparative Los Angeles pictures captioned CIVIC CENTER AT 10 A.M.' and 'CIVIC CENTER AFTER THE ALERT.' "TO END ALL THIS NONSENSE I would fayor dividing the state at Tehachapi, above Tehachapi or below Tehachapi. Wherever Northern California wants to draw the line, I say go ahead and we'll set up the immigration station there.' Roamer noted that Los Angeles Council-man Karl L. Rundberg is promoting a study of a plan to establish the City and County os Angeles.

"Rundberg's plan is an excellent move," Roamer said, "except that it doesn't go far enough. For truly equitable taxation and to end attempts by Los Angeles businessmen to saddle the county with their pet downtown projects, I favor cutting Los Angeles County in two along a line roughly paralleling Roseerans Blvd. "THE NEW SOUTHERN SECTION—call

Commends Paper for Backing Plan

TO THE EDITOR:

We commend your editorial in the Independent-Press-Telegram regarding the recommendation of the special city committee to provide Long Beach city employes with a sound health service plan that will provide adequate payment for hospital, medical and surgical conditions. We have a health service plan of this type for our staff, and our experience with it has been a most satisfying one. We have found the flexibility of this plan to be most valuable in providing larger payments in cases of extensive surgery and hospitalization. The very large majority of our doctors accept in full, the fees paid under this plan. We have no office problems, nor does the individual staff member, in fill-ing out claim or report forms.

THE "BUILT-IN controls" in the plan recommended for our city employes will pro-vide an acceptable fee for doctor and hospital, and protection for the patient. underwriting company alike.
All of us want the best in medical, surgical and hospital care when we need it, and it should be recognized that in the rising wages and prices economy in which we are living, costs of good hospital, medical and surgical care, too, must increase. It has been said that the person who never has to use his group health plan is the most fortunate of all. But when there is a need for doctor or hospital care, there is tremendous satisfaction in having a health plan that will operate satisfactorily everyone concerned, year in, year out.

reports a net profit for the first quarter of the fiscal year, in the amount of $86 .-560. Must be some mistake. According to the port manager's estimate, also published a few months back. subsidence, caused by the extracting of oil and gas, has damaged the port to the tune of $100,000,000 during the past 20 years or so, and when you charge off depreciation, as all well-managed business-es do, it looks to me like the port actually went in the red more than a million floilars during the first quarter of the fiscal year.

IT'S ALL right, I suppose, to get a little ambitious at times, but then let's rememher that neither the port of Long Beach, nor the Los Aneles harbor has ever in their history made a dollar of profits. The depreciation in the Long Beach harbor is almost 100 per cent. And really the only people making any mon-ey are the oil companies and the state.

TO THE EDITOR:

The chicken-or-the-egg riddle has its modern counter-part in the problem of which causes the other to rise, wages or prices. To believe that wages can go up without a subsequent increase in prices is wishful thinking, since the cost of labor must be figured into the cost of production. When labor unions quote astronomical figures as profits, they intimate that all of this money goes into the pockets of a few "privileged"

is spread thinly over a vast number of stockholders who are certainly entitled to a return on their investment. Too, a certain percentage of these profits go into plant ex-pansion which creates new

> PRIOR TO the New Deal with its something-for-nothing philosophy, a worker studied to improve his position if he desired a higher standard of living. He under-stood that if he wanted more money, he would have to make himself worth more to his firm. This industrious attitude is now hard to find, since the labor leaders aim for a never ending round of wage increases in order to

of the good guys while man-agement is the bad guy. It would be wrong to place the entire blame for inflation on wage increases. Anything which places more money into circulation, such as govern-ment pump-priming, or lowering of the interest rate by the Federal Reserve System, will cause higher prices be-justify their existence, and cast themselves in the role supply and demand.

The important thing to understand is that wage inercases do contribute to inflation and are of short benefit to the recipient.

Golden Rule in Action

TO THE EDITOR:

We read so much of crime and dishonesty of all types that sometimes we almost lose faith in humanity. We most neor trying to live by the Golden Rule. I asked for a 97-cent book of stamps at the post office window the other day and handed the man a $5 bill. He took it and closed the window except for a small crack at the bottom, through which he pushed the stamp book and three cents. I hurriedly gathered up the book and pennies and walked to a near-by desk to stamp some cards. Someone touched me and I was surprised to see a young woman and a sailor. The woman smiled and handed me four one-dollar bills. "Here is the change for your five-dollar bill which you left at the window. We were stand-ing behind you," she said,

I HADN'T realized that I had left the money, although I most certainly would have remembered it soon. The clerk evidently pushed the bills through the window and since it was almost closed, he was unable to see that I was no longer there. I hadn't seen the couple who walked up behind me. They could have kept the money, and I would never have known who in that throng of people had taken it. Of course there wasn't a large sum involved hut most people can use a few extra dollars at Christmas time, and this couple are to be commended for their honesty.

Winston, Young Stars of JRB Before 50,797

With a stinging passing attack and a painfullyeffective running game, Santa Monica CC won the na-tional jayeee football championship Saturday in the 13th annual Junior Rose Bowl game at Pasadena.

The undefeated Corsairs broke up a defensive duel with a second-half aerial harrage that sent Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College down to defeat by a 30-12 margin before a near-record crowd of 50,797.

Swimming Chompionships will be held in Long Beach in 1950, the National AAU Committee informed Ron Maury of the Nu-Pike Plunge Saturday.

It will mark the first time that such an event ever has been held in Long Beach. The Far Western Champlonships, under the management of Maury, were held at the Nu-Pike Plunge this year and their success influenced the AAU to the national event in Long Beach.

Maury said that invitations would be sent to swim groups in each of the 49 states, plus those in Hawaii, Mexico, Japan, Canada and Cuba.

Dr. Steve Seymour, charter member of the Century Club, will serve as liaison man between that group and Nu-Pike Plunge officials.

Sports Merry-Go-Round By HANK HOLLINGWORTH Sports Editor

Southern California, rightfully adjudged the world's boxing capital right now, is in the midst of a peculiar situation.

The Southland's fans have turned out in droves to witness an almost unreasing string of mismatches, yet boxing's czar has the gall to call this area "a good fight area, but not In a visit to the Southland this past week, Truman Gibson, president of the International Boxing Club, hearmed and hawed when questioned about the possibility of the next Ray Robinson-Carmen Basilio middleweight title match landing in Los Angeles.

"Oh, we'll give Los Angeles serious consideration," he laughed, "but I rather doubt the fight will be held in Southern California, You see, Los Angeles is a good fight town, but Chicago is better."

BETTER? Mr. Gibson, you'd better check your gate receipts and your marbles before you repeat that statement. To refresh your memory, which apparently has become dimmed because of the pitifully few really good fights that have taken place around here lately, look at the gentlemen who have paraded before Southland audiences within the past

Floyd Patterson, Archie Moore, Carmen Basilio, Virgil Akins, Tany Anthony, Don Jordan, Kid Bassey, Davey Moore, Zora Folley, Pete Rudemacher, Pajarito Moreno, Roy (Cut & Shoot) Harris, Gaspar Ortega, Art Aragon, Ike Chestnut, among others.

Can Chicago come close to that parade of "names"? Of Can Unicago come close to that parade of frames; of course not. I'll grant some of the characters on the above list aren't much right now (Tademacher, Akins, Moreno and Harris, if you want names), but at the time each man fought in the Southland, he was ranked high throughout the boxing world.

The very fact, Mr. Gibson, that each fight involving the aforementioned boxers was a financial success, is unrefutable proof that Southern California is the BEST boxing area in the world, It has to be the very BEST, else the misl would have been financial drains on you and yours.

Truthfully, Truman, how much money do you think the Basilio-Aragon thing would have drawn in your little, old Chicago? Even the flies wouldn't have turned out for that

One there.
Or Folley-Rademacher? Or Patterson-Harris? Or Jordan-Akins? Or Moreno-Bassey? You've got me started and I'm

WE'RE NOT ALL RUBES who believe your patter, Truman, because some of us are certain you're kissing off the Basilio-Robinson go in Los Angeles in favor of the Windy City because Chicago Stadium happens to be TBC property. I don't blame you for favoring Chicago if you own the joint, but don't say you want the big fight there "for economic

You told some of us last week that you "couldn't risk holding an outdoor fight in Los Angeles and having it rained out. Why, look at the Bassey-Mareno fight," you said, "It rained until two hours before the bout."

Pardon me, sir, if I ram those words down your throat.

The Bassey-Moreno scrap was hampered by a cloudburst,
BUT Wrigley Field was nearly sold out even though the rains didn't stop until close to post time. Does that sound to you like a bad fight town?

Take poor Carmen' to Chicago and have your wolves rob him again, Mr. Gibson. But, don't make yourself look so ri-diculous around here. Just because we're turning out in droves for an astonishing series of mismatches, don't get the idea we're 100 per cent slupid. We're just hungry for action, old

LONG BEACH FANS should wring their hands in glee this week at the knowledge that the only non-mismatch of seven major bouts promoted in the Los Angeles-area in eight months, was the Jordan-Ortega match televised from the Lafayette Hotel. Look at the list:

1. Bassey slaughtered Moreno,

2. Folley mashed poor Rademacher. 3. Patterson toyed with "Cut & Shoot."

Basilio chewed up Aragon.
 Jordan decisioned Ortega in a rip-snorter.

6. Jordan submerged Akins.

7. Davey Moore tommyhawked Moreno

Because the gods were in Long Beach's corner, the Jordan-Ortega match upped this city's slock as a fast-rising fight metropolis. When a succession of ringmen as Basilio, Folley, Bassey and Moreno train here, the reasoning certainly follows that Long Beach is getting its long overdue recogni-tion as a sports center.

Bringing fights and fighters to Long Beach is bringing recognition to a major city, not hurling it (as some of the pensioners who bask daily on the Lincoln Park benches wall). I wouldn't say boxing injured such villages as New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Houston or Miami, would you?

I'M AS FED UP with other columnists at the mismatches we've been saddled with lately, but in defense of the matchmakers I've got to point out that only ONE (well, possibly two) bouts shaped up as a farce BEFORE it took place. That was the Basilio-Aragon thing . . . BUT that affair was strictly a gate lure, nothing else. Let's look at the others

The Bassey-Moreno bout had all the ingredients of a thriller, for Pajarito still was recognized as a sensational puncher . . . Nobody realized that Rademacher was such a stiff before Folley stiffened him . . . Harris came to town with an unblemished record-and you can't argue with a spotless realized he was so out of shape . . . When Moreno faced Moore, he still enjoyed the nura of the little man with the

The bouts turned out, for the most part, as sour as curdled milk. Everyone—including the castigating column-lsts—eyed them with interest BEFORE they took place.

I'm certain, though, that even the matchmakers won't have any more truck with the Rademacher-Moreno-Harris bloc, Goodness, even a Truman Gibson-Jim Norris match would be more attractive now

Once Over Lightly Rams, Packers Close Season

The Baltimore Colts wrapped up the NFL's Wes ern Division title in just 10 games. During that period, they lost only one game, a 24-21 decision to the New York Giants when quarterback Johnny Unitas was sidelined with a rib injury.

It wasn't until they clinched the crown that they lost their second encounter of the campaign, to the Los Angeles

During the period when it counted, the biggest scare given the Colts in their nine victories came from the Green Bay Packers in the third game of the season.

However, three weeks later, Baltimore carved out the mos decisive win registered in pro football so far this year when they slaughtered the Packers, 56-0, in a return game.

Why the tremendous reversal of form in such a short

There's a story behind it. The Packers probably will deny it, but the information came from a person who was close to the situation.

In their first meeting, Baltimore had nothing but trouble with the Packers at Milwaukee.

The Colts were fresh from stunning upset victories over the two clubs that generally had been ranked as co-favorites for the 1958 crown. They whipped the Detroit Lions, 28-18, and then toppled the Chicago Bears, 51-38. *

MEANWHILE, GREEN BAY, PICKED to finish last as usual, was beaten by the Bears in the opener and were lucky to the Detroit, 13-13, in a game marked by such miserable play on the part of the Lions that the Bobby Layne trade to Pittsburgh was generated to shake up the club. The Colts, of course, were expected to take Green Bay apart at the seams. But the Puckers opened with a rush and led Bultimore almost the entire game before a desperate last-quarter surge gave the Coits a hair-raising, 24-17, tri-umph. And they were lucky to win it. By the time they met again three weeks later, cham-plonship fever in Baltimore was at a high pitch. The Colts had followed the close call against Green Bay with victories over

Detroit, 40-14, and Washington, 35-10, to run their winning The Packers were quartered in a Washington, D. C. hotel the day and night before the game in Baltimore, and observers present noticed that the Packer players suddenly retired to their rooms and were "locked in."

QUESTIONING PRODUCED THE following story from a member of the Green Bay organization:

The Colts, of course, were strong favorites to whip the Packers and figured to do it handily on their home field despite the narrow escape at Milwaukee. However, from the moment the Green Bay sound arrived at the botal moment the Green Bay squad arrived at the hotel, the indi-vidual players began receiving telephone calls.

The callers asked for the players by name and, when they answered, threatened them with dire consequences unless they "lost" the game as they were expected to do.

The players brushed off the calls for awhile until they persisted and more and more players were contacted and

Club officials figured the calls were from over-enthusiastic Colt fans who had been stimulated by Baltimore's title chances, but nevertheless they took no chances and locked the players in their rooms, shut off all outside calls and stationed guards around the place.

However, the calls evidently had their desired affect, be-cause the next afternoon the Colts slaughtered Green Bay, 56-0. The "half-hearted" play of many Packer veterans—most of whom are said to have received calls—brought a withcring public blast from Coach Ray McLean who threatened to get rid of everyone on the team who didn't want to play football. Anyway, that's the story heard along the pro football

MEANWHILE, THE PACKERS move into the Coliseum this afternoon for the NFL finale with the Rams. And although the division title has been wrapped up by

Baltimore, the game could still produce some of the most in teresting and exciting action of the season.

For one thing, it should be a home town victory all the way. The Rams are gunning for second-place money and need a win to nail down at least part of it, depending on the outcome of the Chicago Bears' game with Detroit.

Secondly, it should be a wild offensive show, for the Rams will be out to help Billy Wade break Sammy Baugh's all-time passing record for a single season, Billy needs completions totaling 306 yards to turn the trick and the Rams have been

Dunphy Rates Heavies Easiest to Broadcast

By JIM KENSII.

NEW YORK (49)—Don Dumphy should be thankful that Nino Valdes doesn't fight under his full name.

Geraldo Ramas Ponciano Valdes would be tough to get across even in a slaw-paced heavyweight fight. Fat McMurtry is a lot simpler.

Those two heavyweights clash next Friday night in Madison Square Garden, and, as usual, Dunphy will be at ringside to radio broadcast the hout over the NBC

"Heavyweights are the easiest fighters to keep up with," Don said Saturday in discussing the techniques of fight broadcasting. "A lot of people do not seem to realize that I must necessarily be a few seconds behind the fighters with my description. Lighter fighters like Hogan Bassey, Johnny Busso and Carlos Crtiz punch in such rapid flurries that it is impossible not to fall behind, But with the heavies, I usually get a chance to finish one series of blows before the next one starts.

"On the other hand though, a heavyweight bout can be a real problem. There is nothing more difficult to broadcast than a fight with little action, and the big boys often are content to feel each other out for several rounds while looking for an opportunity to land a knockout punch."

Talking to the lightweight broadcaster, you get the idea he might be partial to the heavies.

"I broke into network fight broadcasting with a heavy-weight fight on June 18, 1941," Don said. "It was the first

"I've done some boxing and several other sports on television," Don said, "but I think I like radio better and boxing is my favorite sport. Actually, it is the easiest to do once you make it." do once you master it.'

Don estimates he has broadcast 1,500 fights while traveling 600,000 miles so there was no need to ask him if he thought he had mastered the sport.

"It may sound odd," Don continued, "but actually TV has helped us improve boxing on radio. Whereas we previously just reported the action, we now are expected to make judgments which TV watchers usually make for themselves. This need to further inform listeners has resulted in giving the radio broadcaster more liberty.
"We don't actually go to the extent of borating the fighters in a poor bout, but we will say one of them is 'overmatched' or keep pointing out that 'the boys are not mixing it up.' It's difficult to pass judgment on a fight unless you have all the facts. Often it is a question of styles or injuries that are not always apparent to the people at ringside.

Some California trout will have a change in diet next year when the state imports 20 million Japanese fresh-water smelt eggs. Thirteen reservoirs already have been designated for the experiment. Only one—Big Bear Lake—is in Southern California. Another

Pleasant Valley Reservoir—is in Inyou County.
This smelt is a tremendous forage fish for front and even warm-water species. It never grows to more than $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches so it does not harm small trout or spawn. Reproduction is at a terrific rate.

The Fish and Game Commission has approved the purchase of the 20 million eggs at the ridiculously low figure of $166.60, plus air freight from Japan. This smelt is no stranger to California, but the state has never developed eggremoving facilities as have the Japanese. For that reason, the commission feels it wise to buy the eggs, rather than set up an expensive program in this country.

A similar-some say it's identical-smelt already thrives in the Sacramento River Delta area. The crazy little fish likes to live dangerously, preferring trout for company, despite the fact that trout are usually hungry. The smelt, while it lives, eats microscopic organisms present in large quantities in all

FISHERMEN AND HUNTERS, particularly the latter, should benefit from enother decision by the F&GC to save 289,000 acres of federal desert land in Inyo, Kern and Tulare Counties for the outdoorsmen, instead of letting the sub-dividers move in and bulldoze it for settlements. Roughly, this area is situated in the Walker Pass-Monache country. It originally was involved in the free-for-all that developed over most land in the Isabella Lake area. Kern County straightened out the Isabella situation and progress there has been terrific, but the desert land to the east remained under jurisdiction of the U. S. Department of Interior. Negotiations are under way to turn the land over to the state.

Another development in Sacramento came last week when the Assembly Fish and Game Committee recommended that doves remain on the fair-game list in California. For the mo-ment, at least, that means that there will be no re-introduction of a bill to ban dove shooting. The Assembly committee feels that the doves provide the hunting population with vital and valuable recreation.

ORREN OBER AND TED WRIGHT, who seem to know their way about Newport Harbor exceedingly well, came up with some astonishing catches of corbina and spotfin croaker last week. This time, they were not alone; other fishermen were hauling in the big scrapners every day.

The Ober-Wright team caught corbina up to 3 pounds, 14 ounces and spottin to 6 pounds, 8 ounces, but Ober insists that he saw larger fish caught Crawfish baits fished between the Newport Jetty and the Pavilion seemed to be dynamite for the bay fish. Ober and Wright had limits two days in a row. Omer said that one of the Japanese clubs which usually piles up huge catches of barred perch at northern beaches moved into the Newport area when fishing became red-hot,

Paul Harmon, owner of Tommy's Bait & Tackle at Smil Beach, proved that the Seal Beach Pier could hold its own with Newport. Using ghost shrimp and rock worms, he caught a limit of corbina Wednesday. Then, on Thursday, using sand crabs and rock worms, he landed a full limit of barred perch.

Best sports for barred perch north of Malibu were Jalama Beach, Bass Rock and Arnold Rd. in Oxnard.

* * # JUST IN TIME FOR CHRISTMAS come three books from the presses of the Stackpole Company, Telegraph Press Bidg., Harrisburg, Pa. One, "Picket Field Guide to Animal Tracks," ($1.50) should be in every outdoorsman's library. In fact, the small book should be with him on every trip.

Even a child could learn in short time how to identify the tracks of the creatures of the forests. In addition to giving positive identification of animals, the brief text describes their characteristics, and there are beautiful drawings of each.

"The Ultimate in Rifle Precision" ($7.50), edited by the famous marksman, Townsend Whelen, is the fourth revised edition. It is written for the avowed purpose of making more nail-driving marksmen in America. The material was con-tributed by hundreds of the best bench-rest shooters in this country. It has been estimated that 50 per cent of all hunters in the field each year are equipped with totally inadequate cessfully. Whelen and his associates want to correct that.
"The Rifled Musket" ($12.50), by Claud E. Fuller, is strictly a reference work for the student and collector of arms of the Civil War, the period when the greatest advances in guns and ammunition transpired. It is an elaborate book and well worth the attention of the collectors.

A MAGNETIC FLY REEL is the latest development of the Denison Johnson Corp., of Mankato, Minn. It must be terrific because that saltiest of all salt-water fly fisherman, Joe Brooks, has been catching tarpon, bonefish, snook and snappers in the Atlantic with it.

It might sound like a gimmick, but when you see the price you realize that it isn't. It's hand-tooled stainless steel built around a permanent magnet. The magnet produces a smooth drag that keeps the reel in perfect order at all times. It's designed to fit any type of fly rod from 7½ to 9½ feet and handle tapers of HEH to GAF.

The reel was designed by Lloyd Johnson, whose engineering genius produced such reels as the Johnson Century, Citaand others.

There are no nuts, screws or bolts to fall out or rust, Extra spools with lighter or heavier lines simply snap into place around the magnet. It carries a lifetine guarantee.

Hawaiian Acres 3-ACRE LOTS IN HAWAII $99 Down -- $15 a month

130,680 sq. ft. -- $850 cash price New 12,000-acre tract development in Hawaii offers large.

New 12,000-acre tract development in Hawaii offers large, low-cost lots for the first time. On the "Big Island" of Hawaii, 11 miles from Hilo, capital city of 25,000, the air and sea terminal of the island, modern shopping centers, orchid capital of the world. Tract is a faw miles from Hawaii National Park and famous farest of tree fern, a short drive to Kalopana black sand beach, to Rainbow Folls, Kona, hotel and resort area, fishing and hunting. Climate is near-perfect all year around, with 79° average. Rainfall is ample for lush, trapic grawth. Tsact is in natural vegetation of wild archids, grasses, tree fern and chia trees and ranges from thick growth to open range. Title to property is Land Court Title assured free and clear by Territory of Hawaii. No building restrictions. Build any time or not at all, rent, lease ar subdivide. Roads are under construction, with 75 miles to be built in tract. Ideal for retirement. Opportunities for profitable growth of orchids, anthurium, mocadomic nuts, coffee, etc. In Hawaii: expanding economy, land is always a good investment. Hawaiian Acras lats have already increased in value since first offered in May. Majarity of fots purchased by island residents but excellent sites still remain. Lots are about 71-cent a square foot, 599 down, $15 a month for 57 months, final payment of $4.90 which includes finance charges. No closing costs, no penalty for prepayment. This is a rare opportunity. Act now by calling or seeing us.

LEAGUERS PREPARE ANNUAL TINSEL BALL

Assistance Leaguers of Long Beach, with their husbands, will treat themselves to their only "purely social" event of the year Saturday evening when they gather in Virginia Country Club for their annual Tinsel Ball dinner-dance arranged by provisionals. A preview of the fabulous decorations being planned is given by (left to right) Mrs. Chester Yunker, league president; and Mmes. Dan Dunlap, W. Odie Wright, Harold Maggart; James K. Wood, Morgan O. Williams, Bufford Smith and Keith Drew. Activities will open with a cocktail hour followed by dinner and dancing to Whetmore's Orchestra.

Winter Beauty in Tinsel Ball

Nature will get an assist in the chill wind and swirling snow department Saturday from Assistance League provisionals who plan to turn Virginia Country Club into a winter playground for the league's annual Tinsel Ball.

Social high light of the Assistance League year, decor at the Tinsel Ball again this year is a closely guarded secret, with committee members acknowledging only that glistening silver and white will be used throughout the club.

League members and their husbands will gather at 7 p.m. for a cocktail hour preceding 8 o'clock dinner. Dancing will be enjoyed into the wee hours to the music of Jimmy Whetmore and his orchestra.

Mrs. Harold Maggart, dance chairman, and Mrs. Carlos T. Gates, co-chairman, are being assisted by a committee of provisionals, Mms. Keith Drew, Buford T. Smith, O. Morgan Williams, James K. Wood and W. Odie Wright, Mrs. Dan Dunlap is chairman of provisionals.

PRIOR TO THE DANCE, Dr. and Mrs. Houston Fairley and Mrs. Burson Schooling will share hosting honors at a cocktail party in the Fairley home. Also planning a pre-cocktail party for their guests are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Erb.

Advance reservations for large groups have been made by Mrs. Chester F. Yunker, league president, and Mr. Yunker; Mr. and Mrs. William A. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wing and Mrs. Collins

New Leaders Guide GOP Women's Clubs

Election and installation ceremonies for three Long Beach-area Republican clubs this month mark the wind-up to 1958 political endeavor on the women's level.

Pictures of the three new presidents appear on another page in this section. They are Mrs. Arnold J. Romeyn, Long Beach Council of Republican Women; Mrs. John L. Kelley, 18th Congressional District Republican Women, and Mrs. Byron Morris, Lakewood Federation of Republican Women. Mrs. Romeyn took office as council president, guiding a membership of 1,556 women, Wednesday in a ceremony conducted by Mrs. Louis Lombardi, president of Los Angeles County Federation. Mrs. Romeyn, 1000 Bryant Rd., also has served as president of GOP Juniors branch of the council, and is active in Long Beach Community Hospital Auxiliary.

MRS. KELLY will assume her duties as 18th Congressional leader during a 1 p. m. meeting Wednesday in Starlight Room of the Lafayette Hotel. Mrs. Lombardi again will install officers. Mrs. Kelly succeeds Mrs. John D. Bowler Jr., who has guided the group the past two years.

A resident of Bixby Knolls, Mrs. Kelly numbers among her other affiliations, Red Cross Gray Ladies and Alpha Delta Alumnae, president of the Long Beach alumnae chapter, she now serves as treasurer of Omieron Province, which includes all chapters in California and Arizona, both college and alumnac.

Assuming posts on Mrs. Kelly's beard will be Mmes. Jack Messerschmitt, Lyman R. Vaughan and Willis Blen-kinsop, vice presidents; Mrs. Fletcher M. Young, recording secretary; Mrs. Fred Looney, corresponding secretary; Mrs. D. W. Dotson, treasurer; Mrs. George E. Geary, financial secretary; Mrs. Lloyd Shidler, auditor.

Guest speaker at the installation meeting will be lecturer John Morley. His title will be "The Global Picture —Uncensored."

MRS. MORRIS was installed as president of Lake-wood Federation during a ceremony at The Hawaijan. Mrs. Morris, a resident of Long Beach since early childhood and of Lakewood Village since 1941, has served as area chairman for the Republican Precinct Organization of Los Angeles County dur-

Serving with her will be Mmes. Keith Davis, Robert T. Rehtmeyer and Jack Vial, vice presidents; Mrs. Rhodes B. Gilmore, recording secre-tary; Mrs. Emmett Green, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Henry Markannen, treasurer: Mrs. Elgin Van Sickle, financial secretary; Mrs. Robert Gauli, auditor; Mrs. James E. Spencer, parliamentarian.

DOLLS GET NEW LEASE ON LIFE

Loving hands work new life into hundreds of discarded dolls as a project of Auxiliary to Long Beach Goodwill Industries. Dunating their time to bringing joy into young lives and also to assisting handicapped employes of Goodwill Industries are these volunteers (sealed left to right) Mmes. Alta Oli-phant, May Benson and Zoe Mossman. Mrs. Ezra Garrett, chairman of the morning because of the work of Woman's Auxiliary to Goodwill Industries.

Climaxing a year's work and thousands of hours of service, this week will find ladies of the auxiliary di-rected by Mrs. Ezra Garrett, 2530 Baltie Ave., chairman the doll committee, in a last-minute rush to complete returbishment of hundreds of dolls before Christmas,

These almost-new-again toys are being sent to Goodwill Stores for sale at budget prices so that any Santa can make a child's dream come

All dolls which come into Goodwill are turned over to the auxiliary of 200 volunteers and work begins. First they are examined carefully by a professional doll doctor who restrings arms and legs, replaces eyes, and even puts new heads on bodies and vice versa. Then volunteers swing into action and bathe each haby, repaint lips and cheeks, coil the hair and dress each in correct costume, usually

PROCEEDS FROM doll sales are used by the auxiliary for projects to benefit the handicapped people served by Goodwill Industries. (Currently 90 per cent of local Goodwill workers are handicapped in one or more ways.) The money buys equipment to increase efficiency and provide training opportunities for disabled men and women, pays for an annual picnic and other treats, helps maintain a rehabilitation and so-cial service fund. In addition, the auxiliary is saving to assist in building and equipping the new Goodwill

But the Goodwill doll and toy story doesn't end there. Trunkloads of dolls are sent to the Philippines where missionary teachers distribute them. Others go to hospital projects and Toy Loan Libraries. Dolls in too bad shape for the auxiliary to salvage are given to groups and individuals who lavish infin-He time and patience to mak-

Annual holiday gathering of members, guests and alumnae of Alpha Gamma, Long Beach Chapter of Delta Chi Sigma, will be an old-fashioned Christmas party at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Bank of Belmont Shore Recreation Room.

Hostesses will be Misses Pauline Bush, Lois Erickson, Mary Ferguson and Mmes, Hayes Robbins and Leonard Maurer, Members and guests will make and wear Christmas hats to vie for prizes to be awarded to the "funniest" and "pretti-est" hats. Exchange of gifts from a decorated tree also is planned.

IN LIEU OF sending greeting cards, members will take donations for the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, international charity of Delta Chi Sigma. Members also will take canned goods and gifts for holiday distribution by Long Beach Chapter of Voluntcers

BRINGING CHEER TO OTHERS adds a cheery note to the holiday season for Junior Chamber of Commerce wives as they load a box with gifts, grocery staples and the makings of Christmas dinner for

JC Members to Receive 'Pat on Back'

As fitting climax to a year of philanthropic en-deavor and assistance to Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce, Long Beach Jaycee Mrs. Club will stage its annual Christmas dinner-dance Saturday evening at the Hacienda in San Pedro.

As Junior Chamber members conclude their holiday projects of "Operation Phone Santa" and the Christmas lighting contest, Jaycee Wives are planning to treat them at a pre-dinner, party open house in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Tincher, 5596 Oleta St.

MRS. DON GILL, president, and Mrs. Edwin Rip-perdan, vice president, are planning the event in co-op-eration with committee members, Mmes, James Nason, James Selover, Duane Wool-pert, Charles Brooks, Guy Hixon, Don Bretting, Brian Dechter.

Most recent philanthropic project of the women's group has been the packing of Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets for a needy family. Under direction of Mrs. Earl Marble, philanthropy chairman, gifts and clothing will be given along with food sta-ples and Christmas dinner to the group's chosen family.

GOLDEN HOOP holding a shower of coins will decorate the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Tincher, 5596 Oleta St., Saturday evening for the open-house preceding Jaycee-Mrs. festivities at Hacienda Hotel. Having fun as they prepare tinsel trees and gilded angels to complete decor are (left to right) Mrs. Don Gill, president; Mmes. Marvin Tincher, Edwin Ripperdan, James Selover.

crowd had its annual 18-28 cocktail buffet party Friday night, hosted by captain Dick Russell and wife, Margaret. Skimming through the evening, salls filled with a steady blow of good conversation, were Commodore Loyd and Lois Landis, his fleet officers and wives, Bill and Jean Seigrist, Chuck and Phylls London and Earl and Julia Arnold plus special guests of the night, officers and board of directors of ABYC.

Among the 80 or so present whose familiar faces remain captured in the montage of memory are those of Clare and Lynn Hossom, Betty and Bix Bixby, Bea and George Hart, Ruth and Gordon Dougherty, Doltie and John Munholland, Fran and Dr. Les Nason, Ann and Sid Exley, Marge and Jack Merrick, Doris and Harry Merrick, Vi and Lee Thompson. "WE DON'T see them half as often as we'd like to" agreed Ruth and Bill Van Derhoof and Dorothy and Ralph Anderson. So the two sisters and their husbands de-cided to remedy the situation. That's why the Van Derhoof home, 3865 Brayton Ave., will be a-swarm with old friends and neighbors today as the foursome entertains from 2 to 6 at an informal holiday open house.

FRIENDS CHORTLED (and rushed to their phones to accept) when they received invitations to "come to a tea" from Phylis Wolcott, Ann Fisher and Cecelia Prichard. They knew that tea, in this case, wouldn't be just what's found in an Englishman's cup at mid-day but a carefully brewed concoction from an old family recipe bequeathed to Phylis. Rum and tea is subjected to a lot of loving secrets which magically turns it into a marvellous cold punch. The party, to take place next Saturday, will continue from 5 place next Saturday, will continue from 5 p.m. until Mr. Lipton runs out of flow through tea bags. Assisting will be the host-esses children, Lee Wolcott, Margie Fisher and Marvin Prichard Jr.

SPIRITS WILL shimmer and glow with the same cheerful ferver of the red and gold Yule decorations this afternoon from 4 until 7 p.m. when Lucille and Bert Garver and Shirley and John McCune co-host a holly day open house at the McCune's, 3920 Lewis Ave. Assisting while the ley cocktails and rich buffet snacks are dispensed will be Rosle and Clint Belcher, Bette and Don Barden and Jeri and Sam Taylor.

WHILE MOST of us are still trying to build our courage to face that inevitable annual holocaust, the battle of the tinsel toss, Lucille and Gus Lucking are sitting back serene as a pair of ceramic cherubs because their decorations are long since up and heau-tiful, to boot. Necessity was the mother of readiness for the Luckings who bedecked their home at 4241 Virginia Rd. with distinc-tive Christmas bangles, baubles and beads the first of the month: Three parties were incentive for this early bird technique. They entertained at a begin the season buffer dinner and bridge affair on Dec. 2 and will host another next Wednesday, first two such parties in a series of intimate buffet and card evenings, to be continued after the new year begins. Another major reason for promptness was the fact Lucille was hostess for her Ebell Group R last Wednesday and when this gang meets for annual gift exchange and merriment it's a hig, big day.

FAIR WARNING to women golfers at Virginia Country Club: Not only is Ruby Callahan recovering from recent surgery faster than Santa can say, "Let's go, Rudy," but is feeling so well she's taken up practicing putting down there in Palm Springs where she's recuping. That can only mean one thing. The rest of you gals are going to have to get a higher handicap, stop all this Christmas time fooling around and get in more practice urselves, or just gracefully accept that the next time you meet Ruby in com-petition you're going to be beaten!

NOW THAT we're out at Virginia Country Club we may as well stay there long enough to tell you that members are going to spend New Year's Eve in Alaska in honor of the 49th. They've been advised to make their reservations early, "before the ice moves in," by Mary and "Red" Whisenant, official club beets for the new Affactuation. official club hosts for the year. After thawing out with cocktalls at 8 p.m. they'll "mush on to Nome" for dinner at 8 then dance to the tundra tunes of Jimmie Whet-more and his orchestra. Assisting as cochairmen for the Klondike Kapers will be these veteran sourdoughs of the club's party trails, Vivian and "Short" West, Elva and Dick Lawson and Jean and Dr. Lyle Murphy. WORKING ON the delightful theory that they'd all have to take time out to eat din-ner anyway, Cleo and Ted Bowman asked a few in for cocktails and dinner in their home before Downtown Kiwanis Club's annual Christmas party (at Virginia Country Club) Thursday. Distinctive, Decorous Definitely Delightful!

The most Christmasy af-fair this side of Dec. 25 was Mildred Shank and daugh-ter, Margaret Scherer's, distinctive, decorous party Tuesday at Virginia Coun-try Club for many more than 200 guests, It was a holiday tea—with varia-tions — from 3 to 5. The "variations" included an expresso coffee table where the unusual brew was made and served to the amazement of all who watched and tasted.

Handsonie Iresh red carnation Christmas trees festooned with silver centered the tables and inspired the entire red and silver party theme. Organ music repeated favorite Christmas carels to background the day with melody.

My wife always says that when it comes to sentiment I'm about as warm and comforting as an electric chair, and I think that's putting it pretty strongly; so today I'm going to disprove this.

I admit I'm not overly long on sentiment, particularly when it comes to this reminiscing nonsense about the good old days. If I'd liked the good old days so much, I wouldn't be living in California. Let me tell you, friends, I've shoveled my last snow and coal!

But today, lulled into com-placency and a tender-feel-ing of Christmas spirit engendered by hearing repeated renditions of "Don't Care Who You Are, Ol' Faiso, Get Those Reindeer Off the Those Reindeer Off the Roof," I'm going to settle back and reminisce a little about Christmas in Indiana. Of course, I must be a trifle restrained in my comments about the Hoosier State, for Bob Houser, our political editor, is late from South Bend—and he's a pretty spiller built citizen. In ty solidly built citizen. In fact, when he captained the westling team at Isaac C. Elston High School in Michigan City, he was known as Strangler Houser.

My story today started about 12 years ago when my wife and I, along with some six other families, were transferred by our employ-er to a new factory in a small town in south-central Indiana.

NATURALLY, my joy was unbounded, having to leave our home in New Jersey. about 30 miles from New York City and its fine restaurants, theaters, museums and fashionable stores to take up residence in a community where the chief interests were hogs, corn and basket-ball and where farmers would come into the court-house daily to collect bounty on dead foxes which they were carrying.

South-central Indiana, I soon learned, has one nice feature—it is the home of the most beautiful roses in the world. But they're in evidence only during spring and summer months. Also in evidence during spring and summer is the typically Hoosier style of dress wherein the men wear sport shirts with the collars open and spread outside the suit collars and hats with the brins turned up all the way

It also is the place where on duty and the natives greet you with a cheery: "You're all right, are you?" (The answer to this is: "Pretty like-

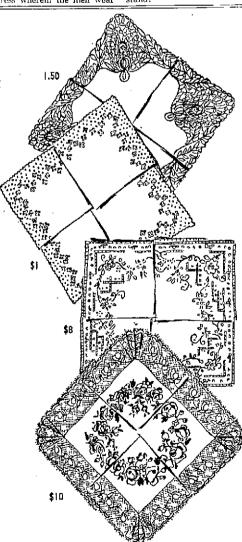

But back to Christmas in Indiana, Preparations started about the first of December when the town would put up its Christmas decorations.
These consisted of festoons on the light poles downtown. They were fiendishly clever, though, for each gob of decorations concealed a loud-speaker over which, day in Gene Autry bellowing "Rudolf, the Red-Nosed Reinder."

IT ALREADY was bitingly cold, but then it would snow, and then we would see two phenomena native to this part of the country. The wind was always blowing so hard that it snowed SIDEWAYS and with fury. None of this gentle dropping to earth stuff in Indiana. It was all plains country, and that wind would come whooping all the way the Rocky Mountains, nick up momentum across Kansas and hit us a good

The second phenomenon was black snow. Honestly, BLACK SNOW! It was white when it fell, but a few hours after landing it was black from the soft coal soot being pumped into the air from countless chimneys.

Now, please, friends, don't take this as an indictment of the whole state of Indiana The area where Houser, the Hoosier Hot Shot, lived is pretty nice, as are the other few areas only recently wrested from the Indians, moonshiners and forest.

But what about Christmas Day in Indiana? Frankly, dear readers, I cannot answer that, because after a solid month of the abovesolid month of the above-mentioned high holiday fes-tivity, my wife and I would get up bright and early on the day before Christmas, catch a train back to New Jersey and not return to this elephant boneyard until the holiday hilarity had subsided. It was more than I could "Double dating led to a double wedding when Miss Virginia Kuykendall became the bride of Harold Palmer and Miss Natalie Kamerick the bride of Eugene E. Miller" was the beginning of an article in the Press-Telegram 25 years ago.

Since that time, the friendship of the two couples has grown throughout the years and they have celebrated an-niversaries together. This year they enjoyed dinner at Brower's followed by au evening at the Magnolia Theatre, and also were feted at receptions in celebration of their silver years.

HOSTESSING THE reception for Mr. and Mrs. Palmer were Mmes. Thomas Lee and David Williams, Mrs. Pal-David Williams, 3813. Fair-mer's sisters, and the hon-orees' daughter, Sherrill, at the Williams home, 5932 Hazelbrook Ave. Enhancing the refreshment table was a silver and white thered cake served by Sherrill and Carole Palmer. Presiding at the guest book was another daughter of the honored pair, Mrs. Clarence E. Forhan, mother of Mrs. Miller, and Mrs. William McDean were hostesses at the reception for the Millers in Mrs. McDeans beautifully appointed table was centered with a silver, pink and white tiered cake, Assisting the hostesses in serving were Mrs. Enid Moran, Mrs. Arthur E. Moran Virginia Moran and Mrs. Clifford Harrison. Millers' three sons, Eugene, Kenneth, and Michael took care of the guest book and assisted in greeting guests.

A highlight of the day was a telephone call from Mr. and Mrs. Carl Allen Carpenter, son-in-law and daughter of the honored pair, from their home in Radeliff, Ky., where Carpenter is stationed with the U.S. Army.

Long Beach State College art majors Marilyn Wells, Long Beach, and Kay Phillips, Garden Grove, examine Christmas wrappings by well known Southern California designers. Christmas package show will be on display in the college art gallery for the public through Friday from 10-4.

State College Presents Saint Saens' Oratorio

Music students at Long Beach State College will join talents Friday, when the largest combined LESC musical event ever presented sees the 100-voice college chorus, the string orchestra, five vocal soloists, and harp and organ soloists in a perform-ance of Saint Saens' "Christmas Oratorio."

Two concerts are scheduled, one at 10 a.m. and the second at noon; both will be in the campus Little Theater.

Dr. Charles Neiswender,
LBSC chorus director, is in charge of the production, assisted by Dr. Bertram C. Mc-Garrity, director of the Long Beach State Symphony Orchestra. Each will direct one performance.

VOCAL SOLDISTS include Dorothy Smith, soprano; Gaynor Morphew, mezzo-soprano; Marvelle Moody, contrallo; Tom Nourse, tenor; and Robert Heally, bass, all voice students at State.

Harp accompaniment will be by Mrs, Harriet Wood, one of Southern California's lead-ing harpists, and a member of the LBSC music faculty.

Organ obligato will be played by Elaine Hathaway, and Mary Lynne Sherlock will be assistant accompanist.

The program is sponsored by the College Religious Council, and will open with professional place as a Kapel Meister (conductor), he went back to Switzerland and conducted symphony and opera performances. This proved to be the real lurning point of his career, for he met the great Arturo Toscanini at the Lucerne International Festival and for two years worked as his assistant.

UPON TOSCANINTS advice he came to America in 1939 and made his debut with the New York City Symphony. He became musical director of the Charles Wagner Opera Co, in 1940 and for two years was launched as an operatic conductor.

Greatly pleased with Amer-ica and the bright prospects ahead, he took out his first citizenship papers. Shortly thereafter World War II broke out and Walter Du-cloux, lately of Switzerland, was drafted into the United States Army. But even in war he distinguished himself. He served on Gen. Eisenhower's staff in London and substaff of Gen. Patton as an interpreter. In a battlefield commission in Germany he received five battle stars and the Bronze Star.

After the war he had many guest appearances conducting in Europe. He was called back to America to become guest conductor with the NBC Symphony from 1949 to 1953. In 1950 he was musical director of the CBS TV Opera Theatre and also was musical director of the Voice of America. In 1953 he was ralled to California to become conductor and technical adviser to MGM and it was from there that Ducloux accepted an invitation to become head of the opera department of USC.

Brig. Gen. Cliff Beyers

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Brig. Gen. Beyers Handy in Kitchen

By MILDRED K. FLANARY Independent, Press-Telegram Food Editor

He believes he has a personal acquaintance with every coconut tree in the South Pacific. As executive officer of Regiment 1, the first am-phibious company ever to land on Guadalcanal, he stayed long enough to see 58 months of continuous ac-tion. "Brigadier General" (they call him) Cliff Beyers, today's Chef of the Week, is engineer-accountant for Shell Oil Co., as well as command-ing officer, 114th Antiaircraft Artillery Brigade, He joined Shell Oil in 1926.

The general started out in Clear Lake, Wash, finished high school and Success Business College at Everett before enrolling at the University of Washington, Seattle.

His first glimpse of Long Beach was as a member of Beach was as a memor of Everett's football team when it played Long Beach Poly High. He liked what he saw and returned in the mid-twenties as a full-fledged cit-

THE LURE of the sea led him into the National Guard him into the National Guard as an enlisted man. He re-ceived his commission in 1926, becoming a member of Second Battalion, 251st Coast Guard Artillery, Regiment AA. It was he, who, during the carthquake in 1933, set up and commanded the refugee camp at Recreation refugee camp at Recreation Park. In September 1940 he was inducted into the federal service, and one month later, took an advanced de-tail, Battalions G and H, to Hawaii. They were the first National Guard units to leave the territorial limits of the United States. Come

Pearl Harbor, and Beyers was executive officer of the battalion. He came through the fracas with a couple of creases in his helmet, and an eternity of memories underneath it.

As the war progressed, he established defenses at the Nadi Airfield on the Fiji Islands. This, too, was the first guard troop in that area. He eventually took command of the 951st Automatic Weapon Battalion which also included the Aprae (Australian Calutho Aprae (Australian ed the Anzac (Australian and New Zeuland) troops. As troop commander of the USS Admiral, Beyers brought the ship back to the States loaded with injured men. Then he was off to Fort Bliss, Tex., for a refresher course in antiaircraft artillery lore. With the ad-vent of VJ Day, he returned to the Shell Oil Co. That was February 1946, to be

Even though "grounded," Beyers was still every inch an exponent of the artillery, and in 1947, he was detailed to organize the 234th Air-craft Artillery Group which includes all cities in the Long Reach area. He also took the necessary steps to build the present Long Beach Na-tional Guard center at a cost of $6,200,000. It houses 83 million dollars' worth of equipment. Each city now has its own armory.

STILL SEEKING all possible information in the line of shooting, he took off again in 1953 for Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Upon graduation, he was promoted to brigadier general of the 114th Antiaircraft Group. It includes the Long Beach 234th and San Pedro 251st Prohably his most important assignment was yet to come, for in 1956 he was assigned by the National Guard Burcau, Washington, D. C., to re-train the 720th Gun Battalion as the first National Guard Missile Battalion in the United States, It now has full responsibility for defense in this area.

A Downtown Kiwanian, Beyers also is active in the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce and in the Amvets.

We all have in mind an image of what we call a manly boy or an effeminate girl. We forget, at times, that there are many variations of this image and that some children, while not living up fully to it, are capable of carrying on their sex roles in life.

Mrs. G. T. writes, "I have worried and wondered about my son and finally have determined to ask you what you think of him. He is 10 years old and by every count quite effeminate in his ways.

DRIVE A '59 CHEVY TODAY!

From the winging shape of its saucy rear deck to the simple elegance of its grille, this car shows you it's new in a decidedly different way. You get more of what you want-more spacious interiors, vast new visibility area, bigger brakes for safer stops, a longer lasting finish, a new economy 6, new handling and riding ease. Walk around a Chevy - then drive it around - and you'll know it's '59's freshest car!

One look at this '59 Chevy tells you here's a car with a whole new slant on driving. You see the transformation in its low-set headlights, the overhead curve of its windshield, the sheen of its Magic-Mirror finish-a new acrylic lacquer that does away with waxing and polishing for up to three years.

But to discover all that's fresh and fine you must relax in Chevrolet's roomier Body by Fisher (up to 4.2 inches more room in front, 3.3 inches in back), feel the loungelike comfort of Chevy's new interior, experience the hushed tranquillity of its ride (choice of improved Full Coil or gentler-than-ever Level Air suspension*). Once you're on the road you'll discover such basic benefits as bigger, better cooled brakes that give over 50% longer life, new easy-ratio steering and a Hi-Thrift 6 that gets up to 10 per cent more miles per gallon. And, of course, you find Safety Plate Glass all around in every Chevrolet. Stop by your dealer's and pleasure test the car that's shaped to the new American taste!

I'LL ALWAYS REMEMBER...

I learned to walk proudly

by DEBBIE REYNOLDS

OONER OR LATER every girl reaches a point in life where she has to make a major decision. She has problems, and she doesn't know how to solve them. Usually she argues the pros and cons with herself, then ends up just about as muddled as she was when she started.

That's the time when it's good to have an older and wiser person to turn to, a parent or an old friend or a clergyman, someone who's already paid the very high tuition that the school of experience demands.

With me it's always been my Grandpa Owen Harman, my mother's father.

The first time I went to Grandpa Harman I was 16 and faced with my first big problem. I had to make a career decision. I'd received an offer from Warner Brothers motion picture studio to sign a contract. It sounded glamorous and exciting and all of that, but underneath I was afraid.

I'd studied to become a gym teacher, and I felt guilty about turning my back on what I regarded as a laudable and wonderful profession. At the same time I was worried about my hearsay knowledge of actresses and the kind of wild lives they supposedly led.

"Grandpa," I asked, "should I go into show business, or keep studying to become a gym teacher? Will show business wreck my life? I'm afraid I'll just be inviting sophistication and heartbreak and disillusion."

Grandpa smiled. He then told me:

"Mary Francis, there's a set of rules on life and living that's been good for hundreds of years. No one who's lived by them has ever gone wrong, no matter what his profession or choice of work. You can find those rules in your Bible, Exodus 20. You learned them in Sunday School as the Ten Commandments. No matter how others around you behave, concentrate on keeping those rules. Let them guide your behavior and your relationships with people, and you'll always he able to walk proudly and to sleep well."

Since that time I've faced problems small and large. I face several now. But in my heart I know the precepts of the Ten Commandments will see me through. They have in the past, and will in the future. 2

On Parade

So you think you mustn't laugh in church? Sometimes it's inevitable --and not a bit irreverent - as Oren Arnold demonstrates in Let's Go to Charch (page 10).

Mr. Arnold, a mirthful citizen of Phoenix, Ariz., has collected a treasury of ecclesiastical fun. It eventually will appear between hard covers, presumably the first book on the subject of church humor. His article in today's PARADE is actually chapter two of that risible volume.

For choice examples of church chuckles, author Arnold doesn't have to look beyond his own house. Some time ago, when his daughter Judy was to be married, the family, the guests and the preacher duly gathered in the church. Everyone was there, in fact, but Judy. Amidst the hub-bub, the Arnolds set out for the wedding and forgot all about the bride, who was left home sitting in the bath tub. In the nick of time, Judy summoned a neighbor who rushed her to the church in time for her own wedding.

One of the great anniversaries of U.S. history is just over two years off. In 1961, the nation will mark the 100th anniversary of the start of the Civil War. A Civil War Centennial Commission, headed by Maj. Gen. U. S. Grant III, now is at work preparing for four years of national homage.

As part of the centennial, National Park Service officials would like the historic battlefields in top shape. But currently these very battlefields are losing ground to a new and dangerous enemy. For a shocking communique on how the battle is going, see Michael Frome's report, The New Battle of Gettysburg, on page 6.

Chiffon Cake Mixes

Dear friends:

Today we have such special news that General Mills has asked me to write it to you in a letter. A lot of you will remember the day ten years or so ago that a brand new cake was born. A cake as high and light as angel food... as rich and moist as butter cake... so delicious it soon became one of America's favorite cakes. Remember the name? Of course you would. Chiffon Cake!

For years women have asked us to put that recipe in a box. Today we have found a way to do it. We are making not one, but two of your favorite flavors. Orange Chiffon Cake and Cocoa Chiffon Cake. Were making them in a mix so easy you don't even have to separate the eggs...and you don't have to blend in the oil! There's pure vegetable oil right in the mix. Chiffon Cakes are at your grocer's now. I think you'll be pleased at the price, and I guarantee a perfect Chiffon Cake, Chiffon light, Chiffon lovely—cake... after cake!

*PERFECT! Yes, every mix we make for you is guaractered to come out perfect, or send the lock to to Betty Crocker, Box 200, Minnespolis, Minn., and General Milts will send your recover lock Betty Crocker

Q Can you reveal how much RCA money Gen. David! Surnoff has invested to date in promoting color television? - S.E., Syracuse, N.Y.

A Approximately $130,000,000.

Q Is it true that Kay Kendall, who now is married to British actor Rex Harrison, once worked as a waitress? And is it also true that her real name is Justine Mc-Carthy? - S.N., Chicago, Ill.

A Yes, to both questions.

Q How come Pvt. F. is Presley, supposedly on duty in Germany with the 3rd Armored Division, is allowed to live in a swank German hotel with his grandmother doing the cooking and his father in charge of the usual entourage? - B.T., Ft. Worth, Tex.

A Presley is permitted to go to town on his off-duty hours, spend those hours as he sees fit. The Army has made it a point to see that Presley is treated like any other GI. No better, no worse.

Q What was the relationship between Tommy Manville's sister Lorraine, and the late Mike Todd? Weren't they once secretly married? - M.Y., New York, N.Y. A They were very close friends. So close that Miss Manville invested more than a million in Todd's movie Around the World in 80 Days. They were never married to each other, however.

Q Would you settle a bet and identify the people whose real names are Emanuel Goldenberg, Alfred Cocozza, Engene McNulty? - B.T., Tucson, Ariz. A Goldenberg is Edward G. Robinson; Cocozza is Mario Lanza; McNulty is Dennis Day.

THE NEW BATTLE

CONFEDERATE HOWITZER trains on new invader of Civil War battlefield at Gettysburg. This battery helped Confederates win partial victory on battle's second day.

OF GETTYSBURG

by MICHAEL FROME

HIS IS THE alarming communique from Gettysburg today: the armies of "progress" advance in strength, gaining ground uncontested where, for three fateful days in July 1863, 160,000 Confederate and Union soldiers fought desperately for every inch.

As the photos on these pages show, new and unworthy memorials are sprouting at this most famous of Civil War shrines: motels on the line of Pickett's Charge, ranch houses within Confederate lines, souvenir stands, gas stations, taverns, even an auto graveyard. And worst of all are signs of more invasions to come. Two new housing developments and an industrial plant are potential threats.

More important, many other Civil War battlefields are likewise endangered. Of 3,400 acres within the boundaries of Gettysburg National Military Park, 700 are privately owned and open to uncontrolled development. But at Manassas, Va., where decisive battles were fought in 1861 and 1862, half the battlefield is privately owned — and is located smack on the path of suburban expansion from Washington.

The Civil War battlefields of Antietam, Md., Fredericksburg, Va., Vicksburg, Miss., and Kenesaw Mountain, Ga., the Revolutionary War battlefield of Yorktown, Va., and the War of 1812 battlefield of Chalmette, La. — large sections of these, too, are in jeopardy.

Nor are battlefields the only areas in danger. Of 24 million acres within the boundaries of National Park Service areas, 760,000 are privately owned. Subdivisions and souvenir stands already exist or may soon develop in nearly all the national parks and many of the national monuments. Yet government funds to purchase "in-holdings" have been so scanty that less than $25,000 a year is channeled to Gettysburg.

How did this distressing situation come about? In the years when the shrines and parks were set up, most land involved was farm, and was expected to remain so. There seemed to be no need to buy all of travel and the sprawl of the suburbs have changed all this.

No Room for Recreation

And these developments have brought the National Parks to a crisis. Cabins and taverns on the battlefields are only one phase of it. Today, the number of visitors to National Park areas is twice what it was 10 years ago, and is expected to double again in the next 10 years. The nation seems to be running out of land for recreation.

Faced with this prospect the National Park Service has begun studies to determine the types and locations of additional areas which ought to be acquired and established. (For a forecast of potential new national parks, see page 9.) High on the program comes buying up "in-holdings" in areas now being overrun. And nowhere is this problem more dramatically evident than at Gettysburg.

Recently, PARADE toured the battlefield with Dr. J. Walter Coleman, for 18 years park superintendent and now director of Park Service planning for the Civil War Centennial of 1961-1965. This was a different type of tour. It was a tour to arouse the conscience of any American proud of his heritage.

Follow the route of the battle:

Gen. Robert E. Lee and his Confederates bring the war to the North. The opposing armies collide July 1, 1863, on the Chambersburg Road, west of Gettysburg. Gen. J. F. Reynolds rushes to support Union cavalry under Gen. John Buford. The Confederate tide is stemmed, but Reynolds is killed by a sharpshooter. Gen. Abner Doubleday takes temporary command.

Cannon-by-the-Cabins

Today, a monument to Buford commands the site, with the cannon that fired the opening shot at its base. And 30 feet away: a "free museum," souvenir stand and cabins.

In the early afternoon, Confederate Gen. Jubal Early's division thunders into battle on the Harrisburg Road. Early crushes the Union troops, driving them back through Gettysburg. Casualties heavy.

Today, in this bloody area, signs advertise 150 acres for sale by Adams County—as house building lots.

The second day of the greatest battle ever fought on American soil opens with the forces of Lee and Union Gen. George G. Meade jockeying for position. Union forces plant 233 cannon along Cemetery Hill. The Confederates, with 182 cannon, face them from Seminary Ridge, less than a mile away.

Today, new homes sprout on the right flank of the Confederate line; 24-pound howitzers serve as lawn decorations (see photo).

Lee orders Gen. James Longstreet to attack. Four hours of unrelenting struggle rage along the Emmitsburg Road, the Wheatfield, the Peach Orchard, the slopes of Little Round Top. Confederate General Barksdale, at the head of his Mississippians, is killed. Union General Sickles, wounded, loses a leg. The day ends in a partial Southern victory.

Today, a motel and tavern mark the spot where Hood's crack Texas Brigade pushed across the Emmitsburg Road; a gasoline station and souvenir shop stand near the place Barksdale fell.

The third day's fighting opens at dawn. General Meade commands his forces from a hillside. Fighting is sustained for seven hours.

Then an ominous quiet falls. At 1 p.m., Confederate artillery roars in fury; Federal guns reply in a duel lasting two hours. But this, too, is only a prelude Continued on page 9

VICTORY: Motel was planned for this crucial spot of second day's fighting. But Park Service used whole year's appropriation to buy the land. Mistorian Walter Coleman inspects site.

"CEMETERY" for old autos sprawls across landscape. On third day of battle, Confederate and Union troops struggled here for seven hours. Rusting car marks Union headquarters.

TARGET for Park Service removal is "free museum"-souvenir stand abave, located where armies first clashed. At monument to Union Gen. Buford, Coleman inspects cannon which fired first shot.

No government agency can save Gettysburg-until you demand it to one of the greatest - and most ill-starred - scenes in history: Pickett's Charge.

Fifteen thousand Southern soldiers march in formation across open fields, determined to pierce the Union center. Through withering fire, only 100 men actually reach the stone wall. The streaming thousands are forced back, or fall. The battle is ended.

Today at the scene of the morning battle an auto graveyard flourishes. A rusting auto marks the spot where Meade's field headquarters stood.

Across the left flank of the charge stands a spanking new motel. Adjoining it a subdivision has been mapped out. "Here's happy living," say the billboards. "A community of distinctive homes designed for vou."

Intrusion Near the Dead

The casualties are staggering: 50,000 killed, wounded, captured. But the war goes on. In autumn, the nation mournfully dedicates Gettysburg National | Cemetery where 3,500 finally lay. Abraham Lincoln speaks his immortal Gettysburg Address.

Today, three and a half acres bordering the cemetery are owned by a large steel corporation. The men who died at Gettysburg sleep within 100 yards of a potential factory site.

How much would it cost to protect the battlefield? The boundaries of Gettysburg can be completed for $2 million; of all battlefields for $10 million; and of the entire National Park System for $30 million.

Twenty years ago we could have purchased all the land we now need for $5 million," Conrad L. Wirth, director of the Park Service, said recently. "But in those days no money was earmarked for land purchase. Now we receive $11/2 million a year from Congress. At this rate, and with land prices sozring, it could take another 50 or 60 years and more than $100 million to complete the boundaries."

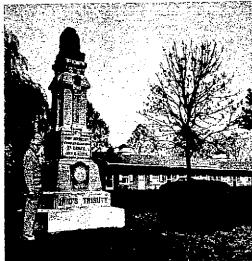

But in the meantime, some of the finest sections would be lost forever. The invasion of Gettysburg and other parks and shrines-by blight and "progress" will inch ahead until someone calls a halt.

And, Director Wirth agrees, the future of these 700,000 critical acres does not rest with its private owners, who feel entitled to their share of a rising land market. Nor does it rest with the National Park Service. Nor even with Congress.

The "new battle of Gettysburg" — and other battles being fought elsewhere-will not end until Americans everywhere decide they want to preserve, inviolate, a place where brave men fought and died.

CONFEDERATE DRIVE - famed Pickett's Charge - smashed across this field where Dr. Coleman now explains battle to youngsters. In one Confederate company's charge, all were casualties.

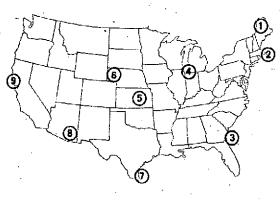

UNION DEFENSE threw back Pickett in area where this motel now welcomes tourists. Monument is to Ohio infantry regiment which played vital role. 102 of 209 men were casualties.

Nine new national parks the nation needs now

New national parks for tomorrow are under planning today. They will-be carefully chosen to serve two purposes: provide a booming, mobile population with adequate recreation lands, and preserve outstanding areas in their natural state:

Where will new parks be located? (9) The rapidly vanishing shoreline will be an early target. Of the entire 3,700 miles along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, only 240 miles are protected from commercial use.

PARADE reports below nine promising national park locations now under study. Legislation for several of them will be introduced in Congress after the new session begins in January. --

- 1 Allagash River Country, Me. Fresh water lakes and streams forming a canoe route through a primeval Eastern wilderness.
- 2 Great Outer Beach, Mass. Longest unbroken, undeveloped sweep of béach in New England, on the northeastern hook of Cape Cod.
- 3 Cumberland Island, Ga. A long sandy beach ringing a forest of palmetto and pine. A powerful Spanish armada once battled an English army here.
- 4 Indiana Dunes and Salt Creek, Ind. Lofty sand dunes and beach front facing Lake Michigan between Gary and Michigan City.
- 5 Tall grass lands of the Middle West, in the - vicinity of Eastern Kansas, the fertile heartland. 6 Short grass prairie, a section of the rising plateau in the general area of Nebraska, Eastern Colorado, Western Kansas and South Dakota. 7 Padre Island, Tex. A barrier island in the Gulf of Mexico, with great length (117 miles), broad beach and windswept sand formations. 8 Fort Bowie, Ariz, Major Army.outpost in the westward expansion and stagecoach days and a landmark of the Apache wars.
- 9 Point Reyes, Calif. Primitive, undeveloped (though only 40 miles from San Francisco) peninsula jutting into the Pacific; a landscape of tall pines and rocky, surf-splashed cliffs.

THE CLIMAX of battle-and the war-come at this stone wall where charge was repulsed. From here, visitor can size up whole battle and see how new battle—against blight—shapes up today.

Prepare to howl-at jumbled church bulletins

by OREN ARNOLD

Worshipers entering the beautiful apse of a lashionable church in Houston, Tex., one Sunday morning were startled by this simple, kindly admonition on the bulletin board there:

REST IN THE LARD

The intent was obvious. But the proclamation was so delightful that nobody even suggested changing it until most of the pews were filled. Then the head usher discovered it and, being very busy, asked his 10-year-old and to make the correction. The boy obeyed. So when the worshipers streamed out again, the sign read:

. REST IN THE YARD

Bulls in the bulletin have popped up in churches all around the world, and as sure as there is a next Sunday, more will be added. They now number into the many thousands. Famous is that deliberate paraphrasing, clever as sin, which seems first to have adorned the bulletin board in front of a California church:

COME IN AND GET YOUR FAITH LIFTED

Whoever thought of that was a genius, even though a flippant one. In his youth he probably was like the teenager who was asked by his minister-father to put a new weekly slogan on the outdoor builetin board of a Milwaukee church. This lad's popularity soared markedly that week. For it was next Sunday morning before his father discovered this large-type admonition under the glass of the outdoor board:

LOVE YOUR ENEMIES. IT WILL DRIVE THEM NUTS

A church in Mississippi caused a stir by posting this announcement on its outdoor board:

No Healing Services Sunday, Due to the Pastor's Illness.

And this face-the-facts notice was posted in a church in Scotland: "Worshipers in the habit of putting buttons instead of coins in the collection plate are asked to put in their own buttons and not those from the pew cushions."

In London it was this: "Not everyone who enters this church has been converted, so please watch your handbags and wallets."

But lapses are by no means limited to apses. They pop up hilariously right in the public press. Typically, one issue of a newspaper, the Darby Progress, printed this startling announcement: "Rally Day and Harvest Home Exercises in the First Presbyterian Church will be hell on Sunday." Attendance was the highest on record.

A big city daily reported an extraordinary response to an extraordinary performance in a Baptist sanctuary: "Miss McIntyre's insipid singing caused the congregation to burst into applesauce."

Perhaps the classic story here, however, is the one concerning the bishop who hit town with a flourish, ready to make a masterful speech at church on Sunday. On Saturday morning a cub reporter interviewed him. The bishop felt expansive, fold the young man many of his finest anecdotes and incidents, "But don't print these, son," he admonished. "I plan to use them in my address tomorrow and I want them to be fresh." The reporter agreed, and so his Saturday afternoon write-up of the interview concluded with this significant statement: "The bishop told a number of good stories which cannot be printed."

And then, of course, a Minneapolis pastor meant to say "life." But at the climax of his powerful sermon one Sunday he came out with this incredible statement: "Many a strong man has suddenly seen the bottom drop out of his wife," He was so embarrassed when told afterward of his slip, that he had his secretary mineograph and mail out a correction — with the same mistake repeated in cold type!

And now we come — heaven help us! — to the little weekly bulletin which the church itself prints. You know, that helpful little folder given to each worshiper at the door. In the one published one Sunday by the Westminster Presbyterian Church of West Chester, Pa., there appeared this appetizing remark: "Ushers will eat those who are waiting."

And we tactfully refrain from naming the Kansas church whose parishioners had survived a cyclone. In the weeking of a barn, five beef cattle were killed, so the rancher dressed them out and hastened to his pastor. There was just time to print a special bulletin on it for Sunday morning. It read: "For any who need it, fresh beer will be distributed in the church kitchen."

And the following is highly interesting news from a church folder in the Northwest: "In the absence of the Reverend ______ while on vacation, the assistant minister, Reverend _____ will take care of all pastoral cuties."

Announcing events for next Sunday, a bulletin in a Massachusetts church said, "The minister will preach on Evil Member In the Church.' Our choir will sing the anthem, Who Could It Be?"

In Galveston, Tex., young people's activities were advertised: "Our church tennis team is better on the defensive than on the offensive. Won't more players please come out for the team?" And right under that the bulletin said: "Next Sunday our pastor will preach on the theme, 'Who Will Serve?'"

In Marlin, Tex., the bulletin said the beloved pastor would preach on: "Who Knocketh at Your Door?" Next line, though obviously snafu, answered surprisingly: "Shadrach, Meshach and Mrs. Viola Townsend whose son is in the Navy."

The morning sermon topic, announced a bulletin in Nebraska, was listed as: "Intimations of Immorality." The night topic? Naturally, it was "Enduring Enthusiasm."

A special leaflet advertised a very special service for a church in Florida as follows:

ARMAGEDDON

Earth's last war! Don't miss this. Where and when will it be fought? At Adventist Church Sunday night.

A few churches support their bulletins by accepting paid advertising. Wherefore, in one such out West appeared this:

Mr. and Mrs. George — whee were married just recently in our church, announce the birth of a bouncing baby biy accompanied by Miss Marcia Wallace at the organ.

Bulletin advertisements bring results!

"The congregation will stand and sing," said yet another bulletin editor in print (or maybe it was the compositor), "in recognition of the fact that repairs to the church will cost in the neighborhood of $11,000." But next week's bulletin corrected it: "The cost of church repairs given last week should have been $1,100, and the congregation will not stand while singing."

The stately bulletin of stately. First Methodist Church in a stately city in Pennsylvania once announced that its worshipers would sing Best Be the Tie That Blinds, and that the good minister would preach on "Confession Is Good For the Soil."

In West Virginia the pastor's sermon topic was billed as "How To Change Your Wife Through Prayer." When the error was shown to him, he ruled, "Let it rest as is; some may need it."

Pastors of the biggest church in the biggest city in one state (never mind what state) believe in outreach. So, in the Sunday bulletin they printed this encouragement: "Our parish is large, and many persons come to the office, and thousands of letters and telephone calls come, sometimes more than 50 in one day. But we conscientiously fake an interest in every one of them."

And every Sunday across the land, charch billetin bards take an interest in tickling thousands.

How to plan a holiday party

by ELEANOR DARNTON

WOULDN'T IT be a pity to let the year go by without at least one party that you'll always remember? Now, during the holidays, is the perfect time to have a real dress-up party — with all the trimmings.

What goes into the making of a successful party? It starts with planning.

Make lists of all the things you'll have to do and get. Here are the important lists: guests, invitations, menu, decorations, entertainment, favors and prizes.

THE GUEST LIST. Don't have a larger party than you can handle. Ten or 12 usually is about right.

Next, decide on a theme, to give the party character. Then carry out this theme through your table decorations.

We worked out a tree and snowflake motif, good any time during the holidays. You may prefer a red and silver party, using poinsettles on the invitations and for room and table. Or for a New Year's party, you could use streamers to dress up the room, confetti on invitations and sprinkled on the table.

THE INVITATIONS. These make a party special. You can do them yourself. Use white cardboard. We scattered snowflake sequins over colorless glue. Your imagination — and stationery store — can produce other clever ideas. And be sure to send invitations good and early.

Serve-yourself-Soda Bar-

THE FOOD. Plan well in advance. The way you serve — and what you serve — affects room arrangement, decorations and budget.

Why not set up a soda pop bar to use all through the evening? You can make it serve-yourself, complete with paper cups and something to nibble on, like popcorn, nuts or hard candy.

Keep the food simple. A buffet is most practical. Don't have dishes you have to prepare while the party is going on.

PARADE'S food editor offers a good suggestion: a sandwich table and a sundac table, both do-it-yourself ideas. On the sandwich table you lay out all the makings for "Dagwood" specials: sliced ham and turkey or whatever, sliced cheeses or spreads. Serve plenty of relishes, mustard, ketchup; a large number of large round buns and a variety of sliced breads. Add potato chips, pickles, sliced carrots, celery, as your budget and appetite dictates.

On the make-it-yourself dessert table place several large bowls of varied ice creams (with scoops, if possible), a choice of sauces and fruits.

Add Color with Paper

THE DECORATION. Your table will take the most planning. Paper accessories are charming and make cleaning up afterwards simple.

We chose brown paper tablecloths as a background for the fushcia, green, gok and silver colors of the centerpiece. Work out your own color scheme and carry it through everything. We found napkins with a snowflake motif with no trouble, snowflake sequins to scatter over the cloth and silver paper plates.

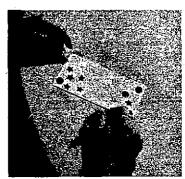

Be sure you have all the essentials cloth, napkins, plates, cups for soda, squat cups for sundaes, spoons, knives. Arrange them in a neat pattern.

Dress the table with centerpieces that are easy to make of colored paper (see photos). And choose party favors that can be part of the table decorations.

THE PARTY ITSELF. Older teens prefer dancing to games. Still, icebreakers may be needed to start things off or change the pace. Suggestions: The broom dance (the hostess taps a girl to drop out when the music stops, each boy finds a new partner; the boy left over dances with a broom). Shoe shuffle (each girl puts one slipper in the center of the room; each boy must find the girl with the matching shoe to get a partner). The fish bowl (the hostess places names of famous couples in two bowls — women's names in one, men's in the other; each guest fishes out a name, Romeo and Juliet find each other, etc.).

Even though your parents may retreat to another part of the house for most of the evening, they should be on hand to greet your guests and help bring the party to a gracious close.

Remember, it's your party. Have fun!

INVITATIONS can be dressed up by scattering colored sequins over glue on plain white cards. Write in all the vital facts about the party — date, place, time the party starts and ends.

TREE TABLE DECORATIONS double as party hats. Make four half circles, each a different color and size (the largest 24" in diameter, then 20", 16", and 10"). To make cone roll until straight sides meet (above, top), seal with cellophone tane. Edge with strip cut in points.

"flower" of the wheat, the finest part."

Tammy pases with parents outside their Los Angeles home. Dad was once a ballplayer.

Meet the girl with the...

PRETTIEST SMILE

by LLOYD SHEARER

Parade West Coast correspondent

It's worth a million but-should she collect?

HOLLYWOOD.

THE LITTLE GIRL pictured here and on the cover is 6-year-old Tamra Lea Marihugh, who has, by actual vote, the prettiest smile in America. And because of this her parents have a problem.

Tammy earns about $35,000 winning child beauty contests, working as a model and appearing on TV. If she signs with a motion picture studio, she may earn as much as $100,000 a year - that is, if her parents, Malcolm and Ellie Marihugh, allow it.

The problem they are facing is simple. Is it wise to strike now while the iron is hot and move full speed ahead into a show business career for Tammy? Or is it better to forego the money and let Tammy enjoy a normal childhood?

What makes the problem more complex is that Tammy's father is an irregularlyemployed actor who could use the money but who also knows firsthand what a tough, heart-breaking "racket" show business is.

"Frankly," he confesses, "the wife and I don't know what to do about Tammy. People look at her and say, 'That child is a dead ringer for Shirley Temple.' We have agents coming to the house all the time claiming that Tammy can earn a million before she's 10. You've got no right to hold her back,' they say.

"But I've been around this business a long time," Marihugh continues, "and I know that there's hardly been a single child actress who later grew into a normal young woman with a normal sense of values. Shirley Temple's probably the only one. We don't want to mess up Tammy's future. No amount of money is worth that."

For Tammy, It's Exciting

Tammy's mother, an attractive petite blonde of 32, who worked as a bank clerk in Bolse, Idaho, before her marriage, believes that her only child's desires constitute the most important factor.

"It so happens," she says, "that Tammy loves show business, and everything that goes with it. She finds it exciting and thrilling, and always has ever since the beginning."

The "beginning" for dimple-cheeked Tammy began two years ago when her mother took her to a local photographer for some pictures "to send to the family back." in Minot, North Dakota." Tannny turned out to be so photogenie, especially when she smiled, that the photographer offered Mrs. Marihugh a deal - free pictures whenever she wanted them if he could use Tammy's photos for his own advertisements. Mrs. Marihugh agreed.

Soon the child's photo was appearing in several Los Angeles newspapers, Presently she was offered a bit part in Playhouse 90 on GBS-TV. "I had a wonderful time," Tammy recalls, "and made almost $200 just for smiling into the camera."

Her Smile Paid Off

After that came the "Howdy Doody" Smile Contest in which 209,000 children were entered. Tammy was voted "the kid with the most winning smile in America" and awarded $10,000. She toured the country, appeared several times over NBC-TV, posed for magazine covers.

"We looked upon it," says Malcolm Marihugh, "as so much gravy since Tammy was only 5 and wasn't missing school. That's why last December we also entered her in a Shirley Temple contest on TV She won it hands down. After that job offers started coming in by droves. We let Tammy take as many as she felt like doing. She's worked the Art Linkletter TV show, the Bob Cummings program, several contests and advertising gimmicks. She's done a little of everything except movie work. And now those offers are coming in."

Tammy, however, having reached the: age of 6 last June, is now a first-grader and is perfectly-adjusted to school. The brown-eyed, red-baired little girl is well liked by her classmates, with whom she never discusses her career. If Tammy goes into motion pictures, she will either attend the Hollywood Professional School for Children or be taught by special studio teachers as provided by California law. In either case she will be removed from the normal school and home environment she now enjoys.

How does Tammy herself feel about things?

"Acting," she told me, as we walked up the street to her favorite firehouse, "is a wonderful adventure. I'd love to become a famous movie star."

After she posed for pictures with several firemen - "some of them are my best c friends" - Tammy walked me back to the white clapboard four-room cottage in which she lives with her parents. In the living room, a representative from one of Hollywood's largest talent agencies, was stalking up and down impatiently waiting. He strode over to Tammy and his smile, like a well-used elastic band, stretched wide. He took optical inventory of the little girl's delightful facial features, then turned to her parents and announced, "I'his kid is a potential gold mine."

"I don't want to be a gold mine," Tammy Marihugh answered, "I just want to be happy."

House current in your car: Here's convenience — a converter that supplies 110-volt AC current from your car battery, the same current you use at home. Result: You can operate electric blanket, shaver, portable radio or TV set, food mixer, other household appliances as you drive. Good for use on picnics, you also can plug in vacuum cleaner or power tools without being near a household outlet. In many wattage sizes: $12.95 up. Terado, 1068 Raymond, St. Paul 14, Minn.

Ten-way "dog bone" wrench: A unique new wrench fits 10 sizes of hex nuts, from 1/4" to 9/16" — which means you can use it on virtually all nuts on your car and on boats, bicycles, appliances. It's made of strong tool alloy metal, with gold or silver finish, and is rustproof and practically indestructible. $1. Robin House, 330 E. 72 St., New York 21, N.Y.

Magnetic maps: Useful and decorative in den, office or children's room, new U.S. and world maps are laminated over steel and mounting board, ready to hang. They come with three magnetic arrows to help spot the news and follow the weather. And they're covered with plastic on which you can make crayon markings that are easy to wipe off. 13" high, 18" wide: $2 each. Maggie Magnetic, 111 Marion St., Paterson, N.J.

Mop that bends: A new mop bends around corners and under radiators, furniture and beds — so you don't have to kneel or stoop. Lower half of handle is made of flexible steel wires, encased in heavy rubber tubing. The slightest pressure bends the handle and the mop slides forward and under. $4.95. R/B Crafters, Dept. PP, 1642 Fairmount, Philadelphia 30, Pa.

Golfer's mat: For both play on the course and practice at home, there's a new non-skid, grass-like, synthetic mat. It provides a smooth, even, cushioned surface for driving, protects woods from scuffs caused by dirt, cocoa-mat or rubber mat tees, and allows you to play and practice under identical conditions. It's 12" x 24", folds into any golf bag. $3.95. Port-A-Tee Co., 14 Bartina Lane, Stamford, Conn.

Three festive holiday desserts

Fluted Applesauce Cake is special enough to dress up any occasion yet can be whipped together in no time.

Holiday Pinwheel is a delight of fruit and nut surprises.

Yule Log is a chocolate frosted pound cake.

by BETH MERRIMAN

Parade food editor

The holiday season is one when you need quick desserts at your finger tips. Here are three in that category that are wonderful to taste and beautiful to the eye. Two of them — Fluted Applesauce Cake and Yule Log — are made with mixes. The Holiday Pinwheel cake comes in a can.

FLUTED APPLESAUCE CAKE

- I loaf size package (10 oz.) applesauce cake mix
- 1/3 cup finely cut golden seedless raisins
- 1/4 cup finely chopped walnuts

Prepare cake mix as directed on package. Fold in raisins and walnuts. Spoon into well-greased, lightly floured 1-quart mold (or 1-lb. coffee can). Bake in moderate oven (325°) about 1 hour. (Cake is done when wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean.) Serve with hard sauce, made with creamy vanilla frosting mix, as directed on package.

HOLIDAY PINWHEEL

- 1 package (about 14 oz.) hot roll mix
- 1/2 cup diced candied fruits and peels
- 34 cup warm water.
- l egg
- 34 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 34 cup chopped walnuts
- 1/2 cup melted butter or margarine

Empty dry mix into bowl; stir in candied fruits. Dissolve yeast from package in warm, not hot, water. Blend egg with dissolved yeast. Add dry mixture; mix well. Cover; let rise in warm place (85-90*) until doubled. Punch down, knead until elastic. Combine sugar, brown sugar, cinnamon and nuts. Set aside. Place a 14" sheet of heavy duty foil on baking sheet. Grease; turn up edges to form a 12" round pan (or use a 12" pizza pan). Pinch off a small piece of dough; roll into a 6" strip, 1/2" thick. Dip in butter, then in sugar-nut mixture. Wind a coil in center of pan. Continue making strips, placing them close together to make a round, flat coffee cake. Sprinkle any remaining sugar-nut mixture over top. Cover. Let rise again until doubled (30 to 60 minutes). Bake in moderate oven (350°) until golden brown. If desired, drizzle with. glaze, using 1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar comhined with 1 to 2 teaspoons milk.

YULE LOG

- 3 packages (6 oz. each) semi-sweet chocolate pieces 1½ cups dairy sour cream
- 2 cans slice-and-serve golden pound cake

Melt semi-sweet chocolate over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat; cool 5 minutes at room temperature. Stir in sour cream; blend well. Remove cakes from cans. Stand one cake on end; cut in halves lengthwise, then in quarters, then in eighths. Put wedges together with frosting between, keeping cake in its original shape. Repeat for second cake. Chill until firm, about 1 hour. Place rolls on side, end to end, to make long roll. Frost with remaining frosting, using a spatula to make rough surface to resemble bark. Chill until serving time. Makes 12 servings.

My favorite joke

by RHONDA FLEMING

In a local movie house the manager was startled when an assistant came running up to him and said excitedly, "Mr. Finley, there's a customer in the third row watching our movie, and he's got a big black bear sitting beside him."

Mr. Finley was sure the usher was a little crazy, but he walked down the aisle to have a look for himself. Sure enough, the usher was right. Sitting there in the third row quietly and serenely was a giant bear watching the film with his owner,

When the picture was over, Mr. Finley rushed up to the customer, who was leaving the theater with his bear. "How come," the manager stormed, "you bring a bear into this theater to watch a picture?"

The owner smiled, "He liked the book," he said.

This joke concerns the actor who went to a psychiatrist and complained as follows: "My wife owns 20 diamond rings, 15 diamond wrist watches, six mink coats and 300 dresses. I myself have a Rolls Royce, a Cadillac and two Bentleys.'

The psychiatrist nodded, asked pleasantly: "So what's your problem?"

"My problem," the patient answered, "is that I make sixty dollars a week."

Did you hear the one about the society woman? One afternoon she bustled into a very swank store on New York's Fifth Avenue and told the clerk that she'd like to buy a sweater for her dog.

"What size?" the clerk asked.

"Well," the dowager answered, holding up her hands to indicate the size, "about this big,"

The clerk studied the woman's raised hands for a moment, then said politely, "It would be much better, madame, if you could bring the dog in to be fitted."

"I can't," said the woman. "It's supposed to be a surprise."

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing -all the unrelenting symp-toms the sinus sufferer knows so well - are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is car-ried to the sinus area, where it

shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name. Dristan Decongestant Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 986 for a bottle of 24 tab-lets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away paincausing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

DEAR MISS RULE: Would be grateful for information on WILMOT, R. W. W., Long Beach.

R. W. W.: WILMOT has a a dual origin, This English surname may stem from the French given-name Guillemot, which began as the ancient which degat as the actent Teutonic warrior name Wil-llam, meaning "beloved protec-tor." William became Guillem in France, to which was added the nickname ending "—ot." in France, to which was added the nickname ending "-ot." Early records of the Tower of London list Gwillimett, an English conversion of Guillemot. The alternate origin of Wilmot was the Saxon givenname Wilmod, brought to England from north Germany by invaders before the 8th century. In this instance Wilmot or Wilmod meant "beloved heart." Henry Wilmot was an Oxfordshire resident in 1274. The Wilmots were prominent medieval citizens of the towns of Stainsby, Chaddesden and Osmaston in Derbyshire. and Osmaston in Derbyshire. Their coat-of-arms has three red seashells placed between three silver eagle heads on a gold band across the center of a hlack shield. Benjamin Wilnot, born in England in 1590, settled in New Haven, Conn., where he died, aged 79 years.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give the origin of TRESSLER. The ancestor came to America from Cornwall, England in 1682. E. L. Beliflower.

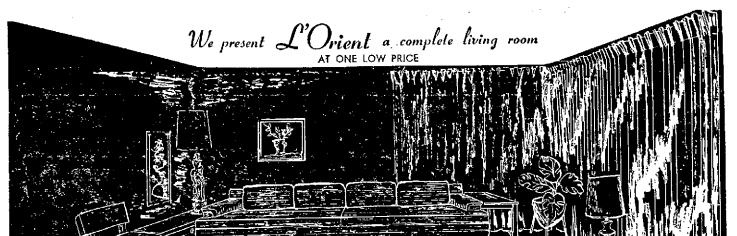

E. L.: Although your TRESS-LER ancestor came to America from Cornwall, England's southwest county, this surname is German, and originated as an occupation-title. The source-word "Treszler" was the equivalent of a "Schatzmeister" or "Treasurer" in a manorial nobleman's household. Due to religious persecution, many German families migrated to England in the late Middle Ages. The Tresslers were among these disturbed people who left their homeland in search of freedom and tolerance. No coat-of-arms is known for this family. Tressler has no connection with the many surnames from Cornwall that start with the prefix "Tre-" meaning "homestend of—,"

How to Solve Yule Card Problems

YOU THINK we ought to send the Browns a card this year?" asked my wife the other evening.

I was in the middle of reading the sports section of the evening paper, and chuckling over one of Hank Hollingworth's caustic witticisms,

"Sure, by all means," I answered agreeably.

"They didn't send us one last year," she stated.

"Oh," I said. "Therefore, we don't really need to send them one," she said,
"No," I agreed.

As Told to Stella George

"We must discuss the Christ-mas card problem," she said.

"You and I must discuss the Christmas card problem," she repeated, realizing that she didn't have my full attention, I put down the paper.

"Do we have a problem?" I asked.

FOOLISH QUESTION. One only a husband would ask, I'm sure. Apparently, the sending and receiving of Christmas cards can entail all the exciting elements of a hard-fought political campaign.

"Now about the Browns," said my wife, "as I said, they didn't send us a card last year."
"So?" I said, giving her my

"Oh?" I said.

"We sent them one in '54. Then in '55 they sent us one, and, of course we sent them one. But in '56 they didn't one, istil in 35 they didn't, But then, again, in '57 they sent us one, So what should we do this year?"

"That's a problem," I admitted.

"And of course I never know what to do about the Wilsons said my wife chewing on a pencil and then doodling on an address book she had in her hand. "They always send such elaborate cards."

"What difference does that make? It's the thought that counts," I said.

"BUT THEN, of course, she works, too," said my wife.
"Who?" I asked-

"And it makes such a good impression upon people that's why I did it this year," said my wife.
"What?" I asked.

"Got fancier cards than we usually get," she said. "But I hate to send a fancy one to the Andersons because of his mother."

Whipping Posts of the Quadraplegics

By Bob Whearley

THERE WAS HATE in his eyes, rage on his

"I can't do it!" he shricked, "Get out and leave me alone!"

The woman in white stood her ground. She glanced down at her patient's thin, distorted hands and said, evenly: "Come on, Frank—pick up the toothbrush."

Straining against the bonds of paralysis that clutched his wasted body, Frank tried desperately to sit up in bed.

"Pick it up," the nurse prodded him.

"Pick it up," the nurse proded him.

A new flush of anger colored Frank's cheeks, and he swore between clenched teeth. It is right arm swung out and his hand closed around a book lying on the nightstand beside his bed. In the same impulsive motion, he hurled the volume at the woman who stood at the foot of the bed.

"And I tell you I can't . . ." he blurted. But the words trailed off as he abrupily realized that, in his rage, he had moved one arm.

The purse smiled down upon him. "Now try

The nurse smiled down upon him. "Now iry it with the toolhbrush," she said.

Frank was on the road to rehabilitation. He might never walk again, but he'd have that measure of self-respect that comes with know-ing he could do some things for himself.

FRANK IS A QUADRAPLEGIC more than 200 spinal injury cases now undergo-ing treatment at Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital.

It takes a special breed of nurse to care for Frank and others like him.

The registered nurses on duty in the hospital's five spinal cord injury (SCI) wards are far more than mere ward administrators or doc-lors' aids. Their jobs require an extra-fine balance of tact, compassion and emotional maturity.

Most nurses have to take abuse from patients from time to time. The nurses in SCI service have to know how to convert this hostility into a force that works for the good of the patient—as in the case of Frank.

There aren't too many nurses who relish this sort of assignment.

"We find that our personnel come, stay a few weeks and go--or else they come and stay," explains Alida Kneisel, supervisor of nurses on SCI service. "They find out in a hurry whether they are cut out for the job."

ONE WHO CAME AND STAYED was Mrs. Pat Bourne, 28, of Los Angeles, who joined the VA Hospital staff 3½ years ago. Mrs. Bourne now is head nurse in Ward F-1, which has paraplegic and quadraplegic patients. (A para-plegic is paralyzed from the waist down; a quadraplegic has paralysis from the neck down.)

Mrs. Bourne won nationwide publicity lust August when she was honored on the television program "It Could Be You."

One of her former patients had written to program producers to tell how the smiling, soft-voiced brunette had helped him on the road to recovery. He dubbed her "The Angel of N-6" (the ward to which Pat formerly was assigned.)

Pat and her sister nurses wince at the designation "ongel"—figuring there's enough drama in their profession and why hoke it up? But they were pleased at the recognition given the nursing service she typifies.

Incidentally, Pat will be leaving the staff Jan. 1 to have a baby her second.

ONE OF THE MOST ardent admirers of the nurses on SCI duty is Dr. George Hohmann a staff psychologist and himself a paraplegic.

"These gals have to take an awful lot of guff," he says. "Within the first six months to a year after being injured, spinal cord injury cases have frequent fits of anger and frustration.

"They have to express these to someone, or else take them out on themselves.

"It's probably better that they blow up at the nurse."

In the first few months, the average patient talks himself into believing that he soon will be walking again. Then, when he realizes this is improbable, his attitude may become one of bit-

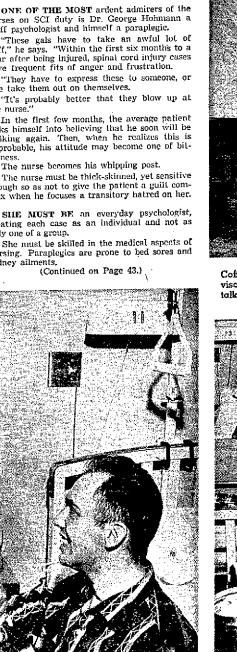

The nurse becomes his whipping post.

The nurse must be thick-skinned, yet sensitive enough so as not to give the patient a guilt complex when he focuses a transitory hatred on her.

America's Worst Drivers?

By Hugh Glass -

NE YOUTH dies every 52 minutes behind the wheel of his car in the United States.

The most dangerous drivers are men from 22 to 25 years of age. Ordinarily they have to pay about twice as much for their insurance as their fathers but if they frive sports cars or convertibles many companies re-fuse to issue them policies.

Their younger brothers are different, as a group, when they take to the road.

"IN LONG BEACH," said Officer Bill Meyer of the Police Department, "the 16-to-18-year-olds have not been drivers of cars in fatal accidents since December 1955. The high school courses in driving and safety have a lot to do with this record."

What about the ones you hear—and dodge—around the calculation of the care of the whole and the schools as they take corners on two wheels and the schools as they take corners on two wheels and sport loud exhausts?

"Some of them may have taken the driver courses but not many," said Clarence Ritchie, traffic officer assigned to work with juveniles. "You'll have to go to the psychiatrist to find the reasons for that idiot-type driving."

Say the psychologists: "Loud exhausts, squealing tires and reckless driving in any age group usually indicates an infantile demand for attention."
"That type is the small minority in any high school," said Edward McKenzie, Wilson High School vice principal. "It's a constant problem but we find that many of them are not students here. They have graduated or quit, but return to cruise around and show what big shots they are."

AS PART OF THE driver education program the state of California requires 30 hours of classroom study of driving and the rules of the road, "We try to show that wild and careless driving is senseless," said Edward Eveland, driver education teacher, "Gunning the motor or taking rubber off with skids is a waste and abuse of machinery and it's likely to be a waste of

"We try to teach the reasons for careful driving and traffic regulations," he continued. "Then, loo, we have test apparatus to show students their physical limitations: what their reaction time is; how big their field of vision or how accurate their depth perception. A student who finds his depth perception is narrow, for instance, will be able to compensate behind the wheel of his car."

In Long Beach, Police Officers Robert Aughton and William Meyer spend an hour in each driver education class to give the Iawman's view on driving and safety. "Some of the wise guys usually have flip questions ready," said a teacher, "but they don't receive flippant answers."

"Young people are constantly watched when they're driving a car,' said Meyer. "If a youngster makes a wrong move or violates a traffic law it is seen and commended or." commented on.'

A REPRESENTATIVE of the Southern California

A REPRESENTATIVE of the Southern California Automobile Assn. made the same observation. "Young people are a distinctive group just as elderly people, servicemen or racial minorities are distinctive groups. All their actions are watched and it's easy for one or two to give the whole group a bad name."

Said a policeman, "Some of the youngsters' cars look and sound like they're breaking the speed limit if they're going five miles an hour. The kids demand attention with their jazzed-up buggies. They are right, the world is right and the car is right if the attention is approving. When they find disapproval they find the world is wrong."

Every high school student, according to California

Every high school student, according to California law, must be given an opportunity of taking a course in driving instruction. In Long Beach each high school has two cars with automatic shifts, twin steering wheels and dual controls.

In an 18-hour course, the student is behind the wheel six hours, and observing other student drivers

"Watching other student drivers is valuable," said Don Bilyeu, Wilson High School teacher. "The student learns from the errors of others as well as his own."

A TEACHER is thoroughly trained with intensive courses in driver training and driver education. His manner is relaxed—almost negligent but his hands are near the steering wheel and his foot poised over the

Calvin Rossi, a teacher, took his group of three studecis over the quiet streets of Belmont Shore and Belmont Heights. "Take the next left turn, Mary," said Rossi. "You're taking it just a little wide. If another car had been coming it might have been bad. Always try to think of what the other driver is going to do. Now, let's try the next left turn." Ross! says it's remarkable to see how the students gain in confidence and ability. "Before they're through with the course they'll be taking their cars through the Traffic Circle and on Pacific Coast Hwy."

ABOUT ONE-QUARTER of the students fail to pass the driver training course, which means they will not be recommended for the driving test at the California Department of Motor Vehicles.

"When they pass the course," said Bilyeu, "one of the immediate benefits is that their parents can let them drive the family car with only a 90 per cent in-crease in insurance rather than 100 per cent."

A girl can drive a car with no increase in insurance rates. The hot point of debate in many households is the difference in the ability of men and women drivers. Policemen, safety experts and teachers, who would comment on the subject, seemed to agree that women generally are not good drivers. Their low accident rate is due to the fact they do not drive as much as men.

It should be added that no women were interviewed on the question.

Ritchie was asked if he thought the driver educathe thought the invertuous tion and driver training classes had value. "They do," he said, "Those students have a fine driving record and when they commit a traffic offense they know just what they did. It may have been caused by a moment of carelessness, but they are aware of their error. You can't realize how much this means in my work."

"THE GREAT FAILURE in these fine courses," said a safety expert, 'is the failure of the parents to take an active interest in the classes or their youngsters' driving. With discussion and setting a good example the young people's driving would be much better —and so would the parents' driving."

"Teenagers are capable of heing the most skillful drivers in the world," said a teacher, "and most of the time they are. They spoil it with sheer foolishness and overconfidence. They don't know their own limita-and overconfidence. They don't know their own limita-tions or the limitations of their cars.

"Their weakness," he added, "is immaturity and a lack of experience. Our courses in driving and safety can't give complete answers to the problem, but the young people are trying hard and we're saving lives,"
"We are saving lives," he repeated, "and we can't ask more."

The 10 Queens of Filmland

By Bob Thomas

Associated Press Motion Picture Writer

HERE ARE THE QUEENS of the movie world today:

Ingrid Bergman Doris Day Ava Gardaer Susan Hayward Audrey Hepburn Deborah Kerr Marilya Monroe Kim Novsk Jean Simmons Elizabeth Taylor

They make a lovely list, a glamorous counterpart the golden dozen male stars who now rule as kings of the film industry.

The top 12 actors are: Marlon Brando, Gary Cooper, Tony Curlis, Kirk Douglas, Clark Gable, Cary Grant, William Holden, Burt Lancaster, Gregory Peck, Frank Sinulra, James Stewart and John Wayne.

BUT WHY ONLY 10 queens for 12 kings?

The American movie industry has undergone some tremendous changes in the past decade. One of the most significant is the decline of the female star.

When the Motion Picture Herald's poll of money making stars began in 1932, five of the top six posi-tions were occupied by women—Marie Dressler, Janet Gaynor, Juan Crawford, Greta Garbo, Norma Shearer. The trend continued through the war years.

But the movies became a man's world after the ast year, not one actress placed among the 10 box office winners.

There are several reasons, and the stars themselves help explain them:

Male stars have longer careers. Now that American audiences have lost the regular movie-going habit, they often pick films because of long-established, reliable stars like Gary Cooper and James Stewart.

"The men have a cumulative audience because they last longer," says Audrey Hepburn, "Heaven knows, Liz Taylor has been in pictures for several years, but it's only recently that she has blossoned into a draw. The same is true of Deborah Kerr."

Miss Kerr herself adds: "Male stars wear better. A woman has only a brief span on the screen--as long as her beauty lasts. But a man can go on right into middle age.

"Men are more elastic, too. It's not remarkable to see a man of 50 making love to a young girl. But if one of us were to play a love scene with a boy of 20, it would look unnatural,"

2. Men have the best roles in most flims.

"It's hard to find pictures in which you're the top banana," says Miss Kerr. She cited her own triumph, "The King and I." The role of Anna was a potent one, but she was dominated—"and rightfully so"—by the king, played by Yul Brynner.

With the competition of the tiny TV screen, the movies have had to provide bigness—big screens, big epics, big emotions. This means stories in which males are dominant.

3. The decline of the big studios worked against the "Most writers are men, so they write mostly about men," says Jean Simmons. "In the old days in Holly-wood, the studios offset this. MGM would assign writers to create vehicles for stars like Shearer and Crawford and Garson.

"But nowadays, the stars aren't under contract to the studios. The stories are bought, and then the studios look around for stars to play them."

4. The postwar trend to movie realism defeated the dolls.

In times of war and stress, the trend is toward a tough, hard approach to entertainment. The screen has been filled with brawling males, and there is little concern for a woman's problems,

Women trail men as modern box office attractions. Says Jean Simmons: "Most of the writers are men . . . write mostly about men." Here are five of today's top stars.

5. Women prefer to see men on the screen.

This is a moot question, but it is stated positively by Miss Simmons: "It's the woman in the family who generally decides what picture they are going to see. I think women are more interested in seeing actors than

6. The male stars have used their power to greater advantage.

"Men are better businessmen," Miss Hepburn admits. "Actors are more suited for hammering out deals and becoming producers. I think we'd look pretty silly trying to do it.

Nearly every one of the golden dozen male stars has formed his own production company. Of the women, only Marilyn Monroe and Doris Day have

But there are signs that the women will be almost as demanding in dealing with producers. Newly free of her MGM contract, Liz Taylor is getting a halfmillion dollars and 10 per cent of "Two for the Seesaw." Susan Hayward owns 37½ per cent of "I Want To Live." Doris Day is asking for deals that will give her ownership of the film after seven years.

Women don't work as hard at being stars.

An actor devotes his whole life to his profession. Not so the gals. They may be subject to long absences for personal reasons.

Ingrid Bergman was out of American films for seven years following her marriage to Roberto Rossellini. Ava Gardner hates Hollywood and hence makes her few pictures abroad.

Marriages and children have interrupted many actresses careers. However, if Grace Kelly should ever decide to return to films, she could take a place right at the top of the list of Hollywood queens.

Despite these seven factors against them, there is hope for the girls. This year's Oscar race is marked by the most impressive group of female vehicles in years—films like "A Nun's Story," "Home Before Dark," "Inn of the Sixth Happiness," "The Diary of Anne Frank," "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," "Gigi."

The ladies shouldn't despair.

"Male stars wear better . . . into middle age . . . women only as long as beauty lasts." says Deborah Kerr. These five complete the top ten of modern motion pictures.

"Day in Court" judges, William Gwinn and Edgar Allan Jones Jr., preside over popular TV court action shows.

By Terry Vernon

Independent, Press-Telegram Television Columnist

OTHER PEOPLE'S trials and tribulations seem to have a fascination for the populace and maybe that is why gossip flourishes and why shows on TV with a courtroom background go over so well.

Local channel 7, KABC-TV, pioneered this type of show when it began airing "Traffic Court" with a genuine judge presiding. Then came the rul-ing from the Bar Association that no real judge could take part in TV shows as a regular star . . and now things have changed.

"Day in Court" is seen each day on (7) at 11 am, and there are two "judges" afternating on the bench to hear a wide assortment of cases. One is Edgar sortment or cases, the is Eugar Allen Jones Jr., professor of law at UCLA and also the pre-siding judge of "Traffic Court." The other is a TV star in his own right named William (Bill)

ACTUAL TRIALS are created on this show each day in an ad-lib style by actors and only the attorneys are actual practicing lawyers.

Producer of the show is Selig

BOOK REVIEWS

THE Pacific Northwest had its historical beginning in 1579 when the red-bearded buccaneer Francis Drake appeared suddenly in the Spaniards' private lake—the Pacific Ocean off the coast of South America, raided ports and looted ships of fabulous treasure, and then disappeared to the north. Three thousand miles later, with New Albion (a California haven) be-hind him, and looking for the Northwest Passage, Drake be-came the first white man to glimpse the vast, forest-studded country of the Columbia River.

So relates David Lavender in "LAND OF GIANTS: The Drive to the Pacific Northwest, 1750-1950" (Doubleday, $5.95), a big book with tremendous scope and Nearly 200 years-a couple of centuries which saw the rest of America begin to take shapepassed before other adventurcrs of European stock looked again on the Northwest. But come and look they did, by land and sea, explorers and then the fur traders and other for-tune hunters. Their stories of wealth, of forests and of waterways soon were parlayed into a rich new empire.

Mr. Lavender lays his foundation carefully and then builds his structure meticulously, with a style of storytelling that is a joy to read—the discoveries, settlements and industrial development of the Pacific Northwest (Oregon, Washington, Ida-ho, Montana, British Columbia and Alaska).

Lewis and Clark, John Jacob Astor, Hudson's Bay Co., gold hunters, gamblers and shysters, Indians and covered wagonsthey're all here and very real. And here, too, are such present-day cities as Seattle, Portland and Vancouver, the dams that span the great rivers, the atom-age factories. With this book selected as one of the Main-stream of Americas Series—Mr. Lavender has not only estab-lished himself as a superb storyteller but perhaps the most able living chronicler of western history as well.

"THE KING OF FLESH AND BLOOD" by Moshe Shamir (Vanguard, $4.95): First mar (vanguard, $4.95); First Israel-born novelist to win the Bialik prize, Mr. Shamir has here a monumental work of historical fiction that may prove to be an outstanding novel of our time. Certainly it is the most significant historical novel in modern Hebrew literature, Shamir's "king of flesh and snames "Ring of Hest and blood" is the young Alexander Jannaeus, nicknamed Yannai, Hasmonaean king of Judaea from 103 to 76 B.C. Centering on the first five years of Yanni's tempestuous reign, the company of the first five years of Yanni's tempestuous reign, the company of th book describes the campaign against Ptolemy VIII, best known as Lathyrus, and then a succession of wars culminating in the prolonged seige and final sack of Gaza.

The young king dreamed of world conquest and waged desworld conquest and waged desperate campaigns, which could not be supported by his small agricultural kingdom of people sick of oppression and bloodshed. It was in this period, however, that Judaic law was hammered out through war and sivil origin and through war hammered out through war and civil strife. And through the book surges the religious

Robinson heads the actual production staff and says, "We hope the shows will seem so natural that viewers will feel they are almost peeping in on an actual court pro-ceeding."

Unlike most network shows that are scripted, rehearsed and put on large stages, this show is mostly ad lib, rehearsed only to acquaint the east with the case and presented in a small courtroom setting.

The writers prepare a plot outline indicating the legal problem, the over-all line of questioning undertaken by the judge and the attorneys and the general lenor of replies by the witnesses. the witnesses.

"IN CASTING this show we "IN CASTING IIIIs show we don't go to the big talent agencies," Soligman says. "For a documentary flavor, we get some of our best people almost off the street. All of the cases are real, we've dug them out of city and state legal files. We have such diverse cases as child support petitions, adoption applications, personal injury claims, divorce hearings, cus-tody matters and assorted felonies and misdemeanors—all types of problems involving the whole range of human emo-tions."

The two judges come from different backgrounds. Edgar Allen Jones has a regular legal background, Bill Gwinn an educational one.

"To learn more about judicial procedure I've been hanging around courtrooms here in Los Angeles a lot recently," says Gwinn. "I was a college professor for eight years, you know, and I'm very serious about the importance of educa-tion. I helieve that this program does teach a great lesson and also provides fine enter-tainment."

His research has paid off and despite his years in show business as an emcee of musical programs (such as "What's the Name of That Song" and his own various airings) he acts like a judge.

IN ONE CASE a breezy actor ad libbed, "Ail right, Judge, I'll do it. Okay? Okay? Okay?"

The judge might have answered "Okay" or even said "All right," but Gwinn looked down at the defendant solemnly and replied, "The court agrees with you."

Chances are that if you watch "Day in Court" you'll agree with the court that it is good entertainment and good education too.

Hobrew. This translation is by David Patterson, Cowley lec-turer in post-Biblical Hebrew in the University of Oxford.

"ANTHOLOGY OF BEST SHORT-SHORT STORIES, edited by Robert Oberfirst (Frederick Fell, $2.25): This is the sixth volume in the an-nual series designed to cover the short-short field, tell how it came about, and where it logically is going. Pat Frank, prolific author of short-shorts says in the introduction that the short-short was born in the Biblical parable or perhaps be-fore that in pre-history, re-counted by tellers of tales around complires and related in song by troubadors and minstrels of the Middle Ages. It achieved perfection in the inventive brain of O. Henry. If you can write a good shortshort, you can write a novel, further believes Frank because every good short-short holds the core of a good novel. Some of America's best-known writers are represented by this vol-ume: for instance MacKinlay Kantor, William Saroyan, Kantor, William Saroyan, Arthur Gordon, Prize-winning stories in the volume are by Anthony C. West, Robert Fon-taine and Nathaniel Benchley, in that order.

"GREAT SEA RESCUES" by Edward Rowe Snow (Dodd, Mead, $1): The sea and its constant perilous challenge has been the theme of many books. In this latest writing by a master of sea stories, danger lurks in many guises, in storms, reefs, ice and fire. These stories
—19 altogether — are true. They are chronicles of hair-breadth escapes from pirates and creatures of the deep. Many are recounted in the words of eyewitnesses. Some are of happenings two centuries ago. "Mocha Dick," one of the tales, purports to be the original of the great white whale inal of the great white whate immortalized by Herman Mel-ville in "Moby Dick." There are tales of heroism, and, occa-sionally, cowardice. In all there is the portrayal of man put to the extreme test when a false move could mean death.

"THE DIVINE WIND" by Capt. Rikikei Inogouchi, Cmdr. Tadashi Nakajima and Roger Pineau, USNR (U.S. Naval In-stitute, $4.50): Battle annals of the ages have recounted the the ages have recounted the heroism of men who have rushed forward in war to sac-rifice their lives to save their comrades. These were suicide tactics in many cases. Depend-ing upon the allegiances of ing upon the allegiances of those viewing these acts, such men were heroes or Icols. So has the world judged the men of the Divine Wind—the Kamikaze pilots of Japan in World War II. But however they were judged, these were brave, dedi-cated men. What made them die for their homeland and emperor is part of this book, a his-tory of the kamikazes from the standpoint of the Japanese, with interpretations by a U. S. Navy Reserve officer. The book is il-lustrated with wartime photo-graphs of both Japanese and

U. S. military forces.
"A SCENT OF NEW-MOWN MAY" by John Blackburn (Mill-Morrow, $3.50): A top young biologist and his wife join researchers of the world to match their skill against time to produce a deterrent to a fungus mutation with the odor of freshly-mown hay. It is a race to save all mankind. A sciencebased novel that builds into a behemoth of suspense and nightmarksh action before the last page is turned.

PEOPLE "THE AZTECS: OF THE SUN" OF THE SUN" by Alfonso Caso; translated by Lowell Dunham; illustrated by Miguel Dunham; illustrated by Migue Covarrubias (University of Ok-lahoma Press, $7.95): Here is the complete, brilliant story of a magnificent civilization swept away by Spanish conquest, beautifully presented with fullcolor drawings and a section of black and white photographs. Readable and authoritatively written by a student of Aztec culture, it is Volume 50 of the University of Oklahoma's fa-mous "Civilization of the Americas" series.

"HELP FOR TODAY: How to Achieve Security by Using the Power Within You" by Ernest Holmes and William H. D. Hornaday (Dodd, Meat, $3.95). WE ARE FAMOUS FOR SERVICE

He Drove Uncle Sam's Camels

By LaRue Meagher

DUST DEVILS swayed in a dizzy, rhylhmic dance across the desert floor as Hadji Ali mopped the sweat from under his turhan. He checked the 600-pound packs on his camels and started once more across the sandy Arizona inferno. In the distance he could see a wagon train, slowly moving westward — settlers on their way to California.

Except for those wagons it would not have been hard for Hadji to imagine limself back in his native Syrla. He had realized when he left his homeand that he would never return. He had not, however, thought that his name would be changed. It sremed the Arabic name, Hadji Ali, did not fit the American tongue well, so they had promptly renamed him Hi Jolly,

When Maj. Henry C. Wayne and Lt. D. D. Porter of the United States Army had put out a call for camel drivers to accompany the camels they had purchased in Tunis, Egypt and Smyrna to America, Hi Jolly had volunteered. Loading the first shipload of 33 camels aboard the United States storeship Supply had not been an easy task. The long voyage had been even worse. The camels grumbled constantly—hating themselves and each other, One, taking a vicious nip at another, would cause a chain reaction, until all the beasts would be in a state of fury.

INDIANOLE, TEXAS, where they had landed in 1856, had tooked good. Hi Johy was homesick for the hot desert sands beneath his feet once more. The years 1857 and 1858 found him helping pack supplies for a wagon road being surveyed along the 35th parallel from Fort Deliance on the Arizona-New, Mexico border to California.

Under Hi Jolly's kind direction and care, the camels met and conquered difficulties a pack mule or horse would refuse to altempt. They withstood the inlense desert heat with case. In the spring, when quiet western rivers turned to raging currents, they plunged

Exciting Journey Into Science

By Charlot Holzkamper

TWO Long Beach coeds at-tending USC crossed their campus last week to visit the popular California Museum of Science and Industry in Expo-sition Park, And, as shown in the photos on this and the next page, they found the museum page, they found the museum to be a lively, up-to-the-minute institution bent upon translat-ing science into understanda-ble, exciting reality.

The two pretty visitors are Lynn McColloch and Mary Rudd, Lynn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. McColloch, 4533 Hazelbrook Ave. Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McColloch, 454 Hars McColloch, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rudd, long-time Long Beach residents now living in New York City. Mary and Lynn atlended Long Beach City College before en-tering SC this fall as juniors in the School of Education,

The girls discovered the museum — under the direction of Don M. Muchmore of Long Beach — to be a refreshing experience in visual education mixed well with "do-it-yourself" and a bit of whimsy.

THE CALIFORNIA MUSE-UM is made up of nine perma-nent exhibit halls and two large exhibit areas where special shows take place around the calendar (24 are scheduled this year).

Lynn and Mary saw the sound of their voices in the industrial exhibit and learned how an automobile engine works, In Mineral Hall they set a small cylinder containing a small cylinder containing uranium into action and heard a geiger counter indicate its approach. They discovered gold by pushing a button that locates California's gold producing areas. The giris pecked at bees making honey in their hive, watched model trains zoom past a 240-fuot diorama of typical California scenery, bearned how plants grow, and or typical Cantornia scenery, learned how plants grow, and made snowballs from a real frosty snowman who, in turn, demonstrated how water be-

OPENED AS A MUSEUM of Science and Industry in 1951, the institution is determined not to be a "clutter case," but strives to mix education with actual participation. As a reactual participation. As a re-sult, dozens of exhibits make their educational point only when the museum visitor pushes the button or turns the handle that sets the exhibit in motion. It's a rare person who can walk away from a demonstration he inaugurates, museum designers have learned. As a result of this modern ap-proach, attendance at the Mu-seum of Science and Industry has climbed steadily, doubling in the past two years. About 800,000 visitors are expected for the current year.

Exposition Park has many picnic tables scattered about its quiet, shady grounds for week-end family outings -- lunch and a tour of the museum providing an excellent afternoon's program for all concerned.

Muchmore sums up the mu-seum's dynamic philosophy by saying, "We want this museum to be a memorable experience for every visiting youngster and adult. We want science to and adult, we want science to become the exciting, imagina-tive thing it is in actual prac-tice. We want to show science tax at creative and personal *Arcet we want' hids to leave our building saying 'that's for

Clip and File These Turkey Tips

Company for Christmas? New young homemakers may be puzzled about how to do the turkey just right. Accompanying article will help; keep it handy.

By Mildred K. Flanary

THOUSANDS of young, new Mrs. Homemakers will be ng "company for Christmas" for the first time this year. In Grandma's day, putting together a Christmas Day culinary production meant quite an ordeal in the kitchen.

It is today, too, unless you organize and systemize all your efforts. And since treating the turkey kindly, from the moment of defrosting until you're ready to serve it, is most important, we suggest the following pro-

Defrosting Quick-Frazen Turkey. Follow package directions or use one or a combination of these two methods:

1. Leave bird in its original body wrap. Place on shelf in refrigerator. Allow 2 to 4 days

2. Place bird, still in its priginal body wrap, under running cold water. Allow 2 to 6 sufficiently pliable, remove the giblets and neck, usually wrapped together in parchment. They will be found in the body cavity, and the wishbone pocket just underneath the skin. Their removal speeds defrosting too. Fresh and defrosted quickfrozen turkey follow the same

A furkey may or may not be stuffed for roasling. The stuff-ing may be cooked separately in a-casserole or suitable baking pan—loaf or muffin size: birds are stuffed, these directions should be followed:

Combine Ingredients just before stuffing bird. Dry ingredients may be measured and prepared ahead of time. Liquid or moist ingredients may be measured but must be kept in the refrigerator until they are to be combined with the dry ingredients. Meats, if one of the ingredients, such as ground

Timetable for the Turkey

The timetable below gives the approximate time to roast stuffed, ready-to-cook turkeys. Differences among individual birds may necessitate a slightly increased or decreased total time. The turkey is done if the drumstick moves or twists readily, or the meat thermometer registers 190 to 195 degrees.

When the turkey is desired at a definite time, start the bird 30 minutes earlier than the time prescribed for roasting. This will avoid delay should the turkey take longer to cook than suggested to the timetable published elsewhere on this page. It allows time to make gravy, remove trussing cord and skewers and arrange the bird attractively on the platter. It is always desirable to plan the roasting schedule so that the turkey is out of the oven 20 to 30 minutes before it is served. This period gives the meat a chance to absorb the juices. It will carve more easily and attractively.

To Cook Stuffing Separately: Prepare stuffing in customary manner. Pile lightly into roasting pan from which drippings have been removed, greased casserole, loaf pan or muffin eups. Cover, if a moist stuffing is desired. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F) 30 to 50 minutes depending upon the shape and depth of stuffing. If covered, remove cover the last 10 minutes to brown the top.

To Truss:

Fasten the neck skin to the back with 1 or 2 skewers, Shape wings "akimbo" style and bring wing lips onto the Close abdominal opening with skewers and cord. Tie drumsticks to tail. A skewer above or through the tail helps to hold this cord in

If there is a bridge of skin at abdominal opening, push drumsticks underneath this bridge. It will hold them down without skewers and cord. To Roast Turkey:

Brush skin of bird thoroughly with cooking fat.

Place bird, breast up, on a rack at least ½ inch high in a shallow open pan. If a meat thermometer is used, insert it so that the bulb rests in the center of the inside thigh muscle adjoining the body cavity. If a V-rack is used, place turkey breast down.

Take a piece of aluminun foil 4 to 5 inches longer than the turkey. Lay it over bird. Plach the foil at the drumstick and breast ends, pressing it lightly at those ends to anchor it. Leave the cap loose over the top and at the sides. Or, the turkey may be covered large enough to cover the top

G. H., E. B., W. A. D.: The English DEACON family an-cestor was a "deacon" or sub-ordinate who was designated to assist bishops and priests in their duties. Gile Deacon is recorded in the English county of Norfolk as early as 1273. The Deacon lineage coat-ofarms is a blue shield which has on it a silver cross between four silver lions. Above the

"prepared for both."

S. F. V.: The German sur-name VOGT, which evolved from the Latin word "vocatus," meant "overseer or balliff," a man who became the trusted steward of a large manorial estate. The Vogt coat-of-arms, granted in medieval Nurnberg Bavaria, has a silver stag, its neck pierced with an arrow, centered on a red shield.

R. C., T. C., E. T., M. C.: The Irish Clan MacCochiain modernized their name several cenemized their name several centuries ago to COUGHLIN, COGHLAN, CAUGHLIN, COCHLIN and many other spellings. They are all de-scended from Cochlan, the famous early Gaelic leader whose name meant "wearer of the cloak" an extremely unusual personal descriptive term. Cochlan, the ancestor, who died in 1053, was Lord of the Barony of Garrycastle in County Of-faly, central Ireland. The family mat-of-arms has two silver combatant lions on a red shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the brief genealogy on PANGBURN or PANGBORN. P. W. P., A. P., Long Beach.

P. W. P., A. P.: PANGBURN and PANGBORN were taken from a village called Pang-bourne in Berkshire, England, located six miles from the city of Reading. The town of Pang-bourne was called Paegingaburna by the Saxon-English in the year $47 A. D. Paeginga translates as "Son of the Pa-gan," and "burna" or Bourne meant "brook," Pagan at that time did not indicate a nonreligious person, but rather one who was a nature-lover, or who had a different religion than Christianity. During ensuring centuries Paegingalurna became Paginburn, then Pang-borne and Pangburn. The surname Pangburn is listed in the 13th century Hundred Rolls

Mules and horses required food and water every day. The camels could survive for days without water and nibbled at desert bushes other animals would refuse to touch.

Packs of 600 pounds could be loaded on each animal without an objection. Mules that were overpacked simply refused to Camels could be depended upon to travel from 20 to 30 miles a day, rain or shine.

FOR ALL their good points, the camels were very unpopular. Their mean dispositions around other animals set do-mestic animals on edge and often caused them to stampede, sometimes damaging or completely wrecking entire pack-their unusual experiment they ordered 48 more camels to help with their work. Other camel drivers were persuaded to come to America, but none cared for to America, but none cared for the hard life the southwestern deserts offered. A few local men were hired also, but most could not overcome the "seasickness" from the rolling motion of the canels. Hi Jolly alone remained, perhaps because he had a dream. He wanted one day to become a wanted, one day, to become a prospector.

After several years the camel After several years the camel transportation experiment was dropped. The Civil War called attention in other directions, and Hi Jolly's services became varied. Gen. Andrew Jackson's motley force was bolstered at Battle of New Orleans by Lafitte's pirates and munitions. Above, old recreation of battle scene.

Lafitte Returns with His Pirates

Hairpiece and moustache achieve a transformation in Yule Brynner for role pirate, Ican Lalitte.

Claire Bloom plays Bonnie Brown, brawling daughter of pirate, in Paramount's new film, "The Buccaneer."

ISTORIANS armehair and expert, have been fighting the War of 1812 ever since Gen. Andre'v Jackson's Irregulars routed the British in the Battle of New Orleans, fought Jan. 8, 1815—15 days after the

Jan. 8, 1815—15 days after the war was over.

This is the climast of Paramount's multi-million dollar

The Buccaneer," a soon-to-be released 'Cceil B. DeMille-supervised production starring Yul Brynner as the fabulous pirate Jean Lafitte, Charlton Heston as Gen, Andrew Jackson, Charles Boyer as Dominique You, and Claire Bloom as Bonie Brown, the brawling knifenie Brown, the brawling, knife-throwing pirate's daughter.

The picture, filmed in VistaVision and Technicolor, is a dramatization of that chapter in the life of Lafitte when the pirate leader, with a price on his head, turned patriot and came to the aid of Gen. Jackson, who had vowed to hang him. And it is certain that Lafitte's supplies and manpower had a major role in the victory.

NEWS OF THE PEACE treaty signed Dec. 24, 1814, had not yet reached New Orleans when Jackson, commanding a motley army of militia, Indians, mottey army of minna, manns, frontiersmen, and volunteer citzenry, dug in along the dry bed of the Rodriguez Canal to defend New Orleans and the young United States—all 18 of them. And it was here that he was joined by Lafitte and his men, bringing desperately needed flints and powder. And ever since that bloody day when 2,000 British soldiers and 71 Americans died, arm-chair combatants have been sure to agree on only one point: the embattled were fired by deep patriotic conviction and exhibited unquestioned courage.

IT IS BELIEVED today by most of those who still fight the War of 1812, and especially the Battle of New Orleans. both in the motion picture "The Buccaneer" and from their armchairs, that on the day of Jan. 8, 1815, General Jackson won for the United States its present resent and the states its present and the states its presen present greatness — though there are those who still say that the Treaty of Ghent made the war an already settled matter.

Be this as it may, Gen.
Jackson had no choice but to fight or surrender the city.

And there is no doubt that his valor eventually gained him the presidency of the United States, or that his victory in-spired the Monroe Doctrine, fathered by James Madison, then secretary of war. Neither is there any doubt that the Battle of New Orleans gave the United States the most mysterious, romantic and contro-versial figure yet to emerge from the pages of its history, the pirate-patriot Jean Lafitte.

JACKSON SOUGHT and won a complete pardon for a litte and the men who joined him on the battle line. But the day came that he sailed into the open sea, banished from the country he fought to save.

Lord Byron provided a thumbnail biography:

"He left a corsair's name to other times, Link'd with one virtue and a thousand crimes.'

Jean F. Estes has hit on the idea of recording the stories of ancient mythology in modern albums.

By Aubrey Haines

OR YEARS ancient peoples FOR YEARS ancient peoples handed down myths by word of mouth. Then writers recorded them in poetic form. Today, some of these myths may still be heard repeated but on phonograph recordings, narrated by Jean F. Estes of Claremont, A former school-teacher, Estes tells the stories the way he did for years in the way he did for years in his classes. Volume I, a long-playing record, is already on the market. On the first side are told the stories of Echo, Narcissus, Baucis and Philemon, and Arachne; on the reverse side Jean relates the myth of Perseus. His source for these stories was Ovid's Metamorphosis. Estes calls his company Meglon Records, derived from his children's names: Megon, Glorie and Jon. His artist wife, Margo, designed the album cover along with 20 line drawings that children may color at home or at school.

WHILE JEAN remains close to the details of each myth, he sometimes adapts the story to the imagination or acceptability of the children. Thus a charac-ter who committed suicide Estes relates as merely having attempted to take his own life. His daughter Gloric was better satisfied with the story of Bau-cis and Philemon when he changed the goose which dies

Sun-and-Ski Land

Strange as it seems, this seenic desert resort city of Tucson, Ariz., with its mountains and eactus is within a few hours' drive of 1,830,000 acres of the Coronado National Forest. This wast area—not in one location—was named after one location—was named after Francisco Vasquez de Coro-nado, the Spanish explorer who was searching for the seven cilies of Cibola in 1540.

Today the forest is rich in scenic, agricultural, and recreational areas. It has 50 rangers on duty the year round. Mt. Lemmon, in the Santa Catalina Mountains, is but 45 miles northeast of Tucbut 45 miles northeast of Tuc-son. Winter visitors can go from sunbaking to skiing in one and one-half hours. Here 9,100 feet in the tall pines are two lodges, rental cabins, 38 picnic and camping areas, and Tucsonians' 247 cabins. Last year nearly a half mil-lion tourists drove the scenic paved highway to the top; traveling in 50.000 vehicles of Thirty-five miles south of Tueson in the Santa Rita Mountains is Madera Canyon. Here are cabins, horseback riding, liking trails, picnic and camping grounds at an altitude of about 7,000 feet.

Platter Myths

to a swan that escapes. Not only are Jean's children but also those in the neighborhood intrigued by his telling of the Estes believes that the myths help to make for better understanding of literature, music, and art. "Today when a child hears of Nike, Jupiter or Her-cules, he immediately conceives of a rocket rather than a god or a goddess," he says. "Such myths can act as a veritable springboard for many kinds of ercative activities. Teachers can use them as a starting-point in composition, music and drawīng.

His experience as a teacher confirms his opinion of the value of such myths. While teaching at the Sierra Vista School in Upland, he told these tales to children in a class-room where the windows afforded a picturesque view of Mt. Baldy. Soon a number of the children lost themselves in the stories by self-identifica with a principal character. self-identification

"WHEN THE CHILDREN merely read the myths in a book, much vitality and spon-taneity is lost," he says. In ancient days the myths were brought to life when carried by word of mouth. He believes that recordings of them should result in similar vitality.

A graduate of Pomona College, Jean furthered his schooling at Claremont Graduate School. His use of the myths presented in his record album is a direct outgrowth of his studies. Nevertheless, his boyhood gave him plenty of experi-ence in developing his creative imagination. As a youth his playgrounds were the streets of san Francisco, the High Sietra, and the scenic Jack London country of Sonoma Valley. If the Greek stories prove successful, he may relate Ro-man, German, Norse and Hebrew myths in future albums

Starfish and "pincushion" shell, adorned with simple ornaments for color, make Christmas tree decorations.

By Caroline Coleman

"ROM the sea to your Christmas tree," the lag might say, and how pleased your inland friends would be to be gifted with an unusual shell ornament for their tree this year.

Many families collect Christmas Irce ornaments and unsulal odds and ends which have sentimental value to them or to their children, and carefully bring them out each year. They reminisce about past Christmases when certain ornaments or decorations were given. After children are old enough to help with tree trimming, these little stories and anectoses become almost family lore and the youngsters ask for the stories to be repeated again and again.

SUCH A FAMILY would appreciate the time and effort it takes to create a sea ornament. Shells may be found in many places beside the sea, but the best selection is offered in one of the many curio shops of coastal towns. Suitable shells may be purchased at modest prices and the selection might be a starfish or "pincushion." Choose small, lightweight shells for best results. If starfish are used, a size measuring 5 inches from tip to tip is good.

Tiny, colorful Christmas balls, beads and pearls can be purchased in many shops. A bottle of good glue and a little patience are other items.

To prepare a starfish, carefully drill a tiny hole in the end of one point with pointed seisors or an ice plck. Attach natural-colored cord for hanging ornament. In the center of the grooved side of shell, glue one ball, one-half to one inch in diameter, and allow to set. Then radiating from the center ball, place smaller balls (Continued on Page 39)

Palace With a Past

STILL RETAINING traces of its majestic beauty after more than four decades of deterioration, the Palace of Fine Arts, show place of the 1915 Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco, may get a multi-million-dollar face lifting.

The California Legislature has authorized 2 million dollars, a fraction of the sum needed, for the restoration of the picturesque but crumbling structure almost in the shadow of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Under present plans the Palace of Fine Arts and surrounding grounds would be restored to their original magnificence, a splendor viewed by millions of visitors to the World's Fair celebrating the opening of the Panama Canal.

TWENTY-FOUR YEARS later, San Francisco staged another great spectacle, the Golden Cate International Exposition on Treasure Island, now a Navy Installation.

Since the pincushion shell already has holes at top and bottom, the only problem is keeping the pipe cleaner secure. A small wooden spool generally will just fit into the top hole. start in my other main, with sheep following Him.

There are many variations of this painting to be seen in numerous places.

The writer's little girl,

Gwenda, caught up in the de-lightfully whimiscal fantasy of ingniting winniscal rantasy of the legends of St. Nicholas who evolved into Kris Kringle and then who soinchow became Santa Claus in this country, Jolly Santa loves animals. has many of them at his Sky Forest village. This lamb is one of his pets.

seemed preoccupied recently with a picture that hangs over recentiv her hed, a pastoral scene of Jesus holding a lamb and smil-ing so broadly His white teeth

"MOMMIE," THE child said at last, "Santa Claus loves animals, too. I've seen lots of pets at his village at Sky Forest. I'd like to have a picture of Santa holding a baby lamb in his arms."

Warmed by her enthusiasm, I helped her to dispatch a letter requesting such a picture to Santa Claus at his home in the lofty evergreens of the San Bernardino Mts. The jolly, redbernarding wits. The jointy, red-cheeked gnome, never surprised by any childish request, was somewhat at a loss, however, for cold months are scarcely the time for baby lambs, and there were none at his Sky Forest Village nor at his Village in Santa Cruz on the Los Gatos Highway.

But Santa is very obliging, and he was determined that Gwenda should have her pioture. He contacted commer-cial raisers who have learned how to produce off-season lambs, and he brought three baby ones to his Sky Forest Village. Then he posed in front vinage. Then he posed in front of a camera with a lamb in his arms, and the picture arrived, as you see, just in time for Christmas holidays sharing.

The three little lambs are still there at Santa's Vitlage, cozy and warm in straw-covered stalls connected to the Reindeer Barn which has overhead head heading. head heating. They have lots of company, for there are dozens of sheep, burros, goals, geese, ducks, and deer, all safe-ly protected from exposure by straw underfoot and gentle their from above. Rabbits have their own special quarters, and they, too, enjoy warmth and security.

WHEN FAIR WEATHER returns, most of the tame animals will be turned out into the village grounds to form a constant reception committee to welcome the many thousands of visitors who come every day of the year except on Christ-mas to visit Santa's fairyland

Santa Claus includes a note with his picture saying he hopes parents will teach their children to be good to their pets. The gift of kindness is the greatest gift of all, for it ries no price tag. 'It consists

Mistletoe Means Kissin' Time

By Alan W. Farrant

7HY DO we kiss beneath mistletoe? Is it because it's a lucky omen? Or because mistletoe is so evil that only some evidence of love, such as a can break it spell? Legend would have us believe both.

The custom of associating mistletoe with kissing found its start in Merrie Olde England, Here the servants in the castles hung up mistletoe dur-ing the Christmas festive season, when the berries were ripe, as a bad luck omen. To break the spell they had to be kissed and pluck a berry—one berry per kiss. It took a lot of kissing, in some cases, to get rid of the bad luck!

Later on the masters of the houses, who knew a good thing when they saw it, adopted the custom. Their excuse was a little more genteel, however. They claimed that kissing under the mistletoe would assure happiness and good health.

MISTLETOE WAS a sacred plant years ago with the Druids and Celts, and was considered a good omen by other pagan peoples. It was often cut with golden knives, and looked upon with great respect. But in Norse mythology, and some Christian legends, it is associated with evil. It was the Norse who said Balder, the white sun god, was slain with a spear made of mistletoe.

In olden times it was thought the mistletoe brought happi-ness, safety and good fortune so long as it did not touch the ground or floor. Everyone took great care that not even a leaf fell down. So, today we hang up our mistletoe in the door-way or on the chandelier— arranging it so the pretty girl will innocently (?) stand under Mistletoe is an evergreen, growing on certain deciduous trees. It has no roots of its own in the earth, and in this respect is unique. It derives its nourishment from the juices of the tree on which is grows, from which it seems to spring as if it were one of its own branches.

IN MANY COLD climates, during the barren winter season, the pearly-white berries that cover the mistletoe are the mainstay food for many birds. The berries are very sticky and the birds cannot easily flip the seed away. To get them off their bills, they wipe their bills against the rough bark on trees.

In doing this, the sticky berry In doing this, the sucky perry seeds have a tendency to lodge in the hark. Unlike many plants the mistletoe seeds are able to sprout without ever having been planted in the earth,

Mistletoe is a menace to the woods, for it often kills the tree upon which it grows. Mistletoe is a parasite and its roots bore into the trunk of the tree, then dray out sap. Along with this sap is taken dissolved mineral salts. Because of the chlorophyll in its leaves, and its ability to get carbon out of the air, it is to manufacture food out of the stolen fluids.

MISTLETOE ONCE was be-lieved effective in warding off fire, lightning and other dan-gers. Swedish farmers hung it in their homes for protection. The Swiss burned it in their fireplaces for the same reason.

Hanging the mistletoe over the doorway seems to have originated in Germany. The idea was to assure occupants. would be theirs for the new rannera cuto suggests that you try this gimmick:

Soak kindling material in certain chemical solutions so as to produce vivid, colorful flames. With fireside flames in brighter rainbow hues, more colorful pictures are bound to be the result. It seems like a good idea and here's how to do it.

The kindling material can be dry pine or spruce cones, saw-dust or small chunks of well-dried wood. You can also use newspapers, rolled tightly into a small log.

THESE ARE the chemicals which, when made into solutions, produce colored flames when dried and ignited.

Copper sulfate (emerald green); barium nitrate or cop-per chloride (blue); strontium nitrate (red) lithium chloride

(Continued from Page 7) One of the nurses's biggest jobs is-as in the case of Frank jobs is—as in the case of Frank—preparing patients to do as much for themselves as they can. They start with the simple tasks—use of a toothbrush, manipulating tableware, turning pages of a book. Frequently, special attachments are used to help the paralyzed veteran put his hands to work.

The nurse must know how far she can "push" the natient toward rehabilitation. She must help him make use of the abili-ties he has left.

And when she makes the pa-tient angry—it's for his own good.

(carmine); calcium chloride (orange); potassium chloride purple).

They can be obtained at chemical supply houses, some camera or drug stores or at hobby shops which handle chemistry sets. They must be thoroughly dissolved in water. Depending upon the quantity of kindling to be soaked, the recipe is: two tablespoons of chemical (one ounce) to one cup of water or one pound of chemical to one gallon of water. Since the chemicals are corosive, do not use a metal pail or tin can unless you plan to discard it. Rubber gloves should be worn to avoid stained fin-

The cones, wood or paper are placed in an onion sack or per-forated cloth bag and immersed in the desired chemical solution for 10 minutes. Then they are removed and placed on newspapers to dry overnight. When they are dry, they are ready to use. They can be stored in paper bags for the burning moment. For rainbow colors, mix kindling material soaked in different solutions.

With the fireside flames glowing, here are some tested exposures compiled by the camera club members based on an average room with a 10-foot ceiling, with Super-Anschrome tungsten film; 1/25th second at f/2; 1/10th second at f/3.5 and, where a time exposure can be used, 1/2 second at f/5.6.

FOR A MORE spectacular fire at the moment of shooting, tear up some of the chemicallytreated newspaper and toss the pieces into the flame.

To dramatize the flames and their color, you can underexpose by one half stop. In other words, because everything else will appear a bit darker, the flames will show up brighter and more colorful.

Now if anyone goes to the trouble of preparing the chemical color kindling and then shoots the fireside scene with black-and-white film . . he gets our deepest sympathy but can still get good pictures. Using Ansco Super-Hypan film, he can shoot the scene at 1/50th

HOW TO Keep Your Tree Green and Fresh

1. WHEN TREE is brought home, make fresh cut from trunk bottom. Take off about an inch, sawing at an angle. Exposed fresh wood can draw Exposed fresh wood can draw water into branches easier. Angle keeps trunk from siting flat in holder. Store tree in a cool place until ready to trim it. Either basement or garage is good; tree is safe from damage. Set tree base in water-filled container. Check doily to see water level is kent up. water level is kept up.

2. SPRAY TREE with geon latex to reduce water loss and wilt. Be sure all needles receive good coating. Geon latex is rubber-base chemical helps trees through transplanting shock. Available at nurseries, garden centers.

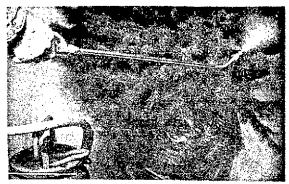

3. WHEN TREE IS FINALLY brought into house, set it in base that holds water. Check daily, add water to keep tree bottom wet. If tree starts to drop needles heavily, the safest bet is to take it down.

4. IF YOU PREFER a "live" tree that can be planted later, it will come balled and burlapped from nursery. As soon as you bring tree home, place it in a tub and pour water over and around sides of ball. Remove tree from water when ball is soaked. Move tree by grasping soil ball, not branches.

5. TO CUT DOWN on water loss due to evaporation, wrap ball in plastic sheet. The plastic acts just as hot caps do out in the garden. When the tree is in the house, loosen plastic occasionally and pour water on the ball.

6. TO KEEP AS MUCH MOISTURE in tree as possible, spray branches with geon latex. Give tree maximum chance for survival by keeping it in warm house no longer than five or six days.

LOU FURST

Smack Those Lips IN ADDITION to being a great 19th Century poet and novelist, Victor Hugo was a great gournet who loved to smack his lips over unusual meats and wines. He delighted in visiting Paris' finest restauran's and became rapturous whenever he discovered a new gourmet item.

Perhaps this is why there is a good deal of polite lip-smacking these days at a Long Beach restaurant named for the famed Frenchman - the Victor Hugo Frenchman—the Victor Higo at 730 E. Broadway. Lip-smack-ing is one of the important pleasures of a good meal, and the dishes at the Victor Hugo certainly merit each and every smack.

Owner-host Lou Furst, who is aided by his lovely hostess wife Ellen, has been in the restaurant business nearly all his life. He gels pleasure from pleasing his guests—and is par-ticularly gratified when he sees their eyes light up as they taste the eastern choice beef which is one of the restaurant's featured items.

THE VICTOR HUGO serves such magnificent dishes as the Chateaubriand for two persons ($10)-and also beef items of equal quality which are designed for more modest pocket-books. The Minute Steak ($2.95) is a splendid charcoalfig. 35) is specialty tender and flavorful, and so are these other broiled delights: Beef Brochette with grilled tomato, S2.75; New York cut and filet mignon steaks with but ton mushrooms, both $4.50; double lambs chops with mint jelly, $3.50 and broiled half chicken, $2.45. All are accompanied by soup du jour, freshly tossed green salad, choice of French fried or baked potatoes and beverage.

On the same complete dinner are such features as panfried hallbut steak, $2.25, broiled swordfish, $2.50, and veal scaloppini, $2.25, a beautifully created Italian item. The restaurant has a speciacular variety of a la carte des-serts, including French pastries, cherries jubilee, crepe suzettes and fine cheeses. Its wine selection is one of the largest in the city.

Open daily from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m., the Victor Hugo also features large luncheons, Businessmen are delighted by the $1.50 special huncheon steak.
